27 Canadians Die Violently During Debut of New Year Traffic Fatalities Total 10

(By The Canadian Press)

Violent death was an unwelcome participant in Canada's New Year's celebration, claiming at least 27 lives.

A Canadian Press compilation early today of fatalities reported since the long holiday weekend started at midnight Friday shows 14 deaths in highway crashes, five in fire, in shootings, two drownings, an asphyxiation that took two lives and three deaths from miscellaneous causes. In many cases, a stiff police vigilance against drinking drivers was credited with saving lives from the number of traffic deaths.

Good weather to begin parts of the country enabled most Canadians to travel in safety, but police in some areas issued a campaign to encourage careful driving and walking during the holiday season, the over-all toll exceeded 1961's New Year's weekend count of 34.

10 Quebec Deaths

Ontario listed 12 fatalities, Quebec nine, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia two each and Alberta and British Columbia one apiece.

Police in Toronto said Verna Binner, 31, was fatally killed and beaten during a New Year's party, charged Frederick Morton, 37, who they said had lived with her for the last four years, with murder.

Mr. Cameron, 30, was charged with slaying her last night on an Edmonton street, Police said. He was charged with murdering her estranged husband with a knife.

Two charges of murder were laid against Sgt. Joseph Lanoie, 35, of Welland, Ont., in connection with the shooting at Petawawa military camp, near Pembroke, Ont., of Sgt. J. W. Cantlin, 41, of Petawawa, Man., and Cpl. J. E. Johnson, 19, of Saskatchewan.

Marion Plescia, 52, was held as a material witness in connection with the New Year's Eve shooting of Anthony Miller, 48, in the Montclair suburb of New York's Carter.

East German Communism Agam Recruiting Members To Replace Many Purged

Berlin, Jan. 2 (Reuters)—The East German communist party has again recruiting after a purge which cost thousands of communists their membership cards.

The purge, which began at the beginning of the year, was the first major attempt to clean up the Socialist Party since the 1950s.

The vast, methodical and ruthless examination of the party's loyalty and Marxist development to 1,000,000 members was an important stage in development towards the party of the new type—a party unquestionably loyal to the Kremlin.

The purge eliminated careerists, opportunists (those for national communist), the "morally down-trodden" and the definitely hostile members.

Previously about one-third of the members had former Social Democrats with a political creed built on a liberalist view toward problems of individuals and freedom.

Some of the members who might escape to be lukewarm toward the party of the new type—a party unquestionably loyal to the Kremlin.

Some members were not expelled but were reduced to candidate status. If they were not expelled within the next 12 months, they may qualify for reinstatement.

MECHANICAL OR

Albert said the 14 survivors huddled around a fire all Sunday and Sunday night. Another man tried to make his way out for help, but was unable to get through the woods, Albert said.

All suffered shock.

Mrs. Louise Alkham, superintendent of the hospital at Salsomano, said all 14 suffered shock. Some also suffered fractures and lacerations, but none suffered from exposure, Mrs. Alkham said.

Seven of the persons aboard the plane were Continental Airlines crew members riding to Syracuse, where they were to pick up another plane.

The Civil Aeronautics Board listed J. C. Webster of Miami as Captain. However, the airlines said Capt. Victor Harris of Miami was in charge.

Sherrill Morgan L. Sigel said the crash occurred five miles from country road in some of the wildest country in New York State.

Blacked, en route to Miami to return to duty after a Christmas leave, said:

"The first 15 or 20 minutes in the air were quiet. Then we hit some rough air and it got very bumpy. The airplane started to roll around and fastened safety belts."

"I fell asleep for a short time. When I woke the plane seemed to be flying very low. I could see some lights lighted up in some of the towns below."

"I wasn't too long after that when there was a sudden jolt, then a tightening noise. I must have been knocked off by the impact, but I wouldn't have been for very long."

"George Albert and I found a handful of men and women. Some of them were dead and some were injured. The plane for fear it would be crushed."

"After that, everybody who could walk came down to the fire. George and I helped some who were crying and others we carried. One woman—I don't remember who she was—was so badly injured that we had to drag the rest who was fastened in."

"After he left, we just sat around waiting for the results that we knew would come if he was hurt."

"I must have been about four hours after that we heard a siren. Then, a short time later, the rescue team arrived."

"We had to leave three persons in the plane because they were too badly injured to move. We got blankets and tried to make them warm and comfortable."

"It rained that first night, but wasn't too cold. Sunday morning, when it got daylight, George and I started to search for a house on a road. We walked about two and a half miles, but it was so cold we were afraid our feet would freeze, and we went back."

"During the day, we heard a couple of planes fly over the area, but it was so foggy we couldn't see them."

"Sunday night, we heard train whistles and decided to search for the tracks, hoping we could find a train."

"We and I were going to make the search together, but by morning my back was so stiff and sore that George decided to go alone. We wore towels into strips and wrapped his feet so they wouldn't freeze. George took some of the matches we had so he could start a fire if he got lost."

Winter Sports Fans Snowbound In High Rockies

Menlo, Jan. 2 (AP)—Hundreds of winter sports fans were snowbound today in the high Rockies near Silver Lake, Nev. The snow was so deep that it killed at least one man.

Three men were reported missing, presumably trapped in heavy snow. Another was rescued alive after two hours under a snow avalanche. The avalanche hit the Colorado and Nevada state lines. Among the hundreds stranded in Silver Lake, winter sports were, former New York Yankee star Joe DiMaggio, his divorced wife and their son. They were caught at Sky Tavern, on Mt. Rose, in miles southeast of Reno, along with 50 other skiers.

Other Silver Lake winter sports were isolated. Snow avalanches hit the ski areas, leaving guests enjoying the facilities—without ample food, fuel and drink.

Skiers Trapped
In Colorado 500 persons, mostly skiers, were twice trapped by the winter storm. Snow peaks reached there Sunday afternoon to 15 feet high. The storm hit the area at the caravan of 200 skiers. Out of the caravan, 200 skiers were snowed out. A Colorado State highway patrol officer said a bus filled with skiers carrying three men Sunday night. One was said to have escaped. The other two were reported missing. None was identified.

An avalanche 65 miles south of Reno buried two California skiers. The avalanche hit the skiers, their truck and two dogs. James J. McCall, 35, of San Francisco, Calif., was killed. Frank Kirk, 25, was dug out alive.

Trace was cut off for the ski area. Joe Carson, 25, a maintenance man at the Squaw Valley ski resort 40 miles southwest of here. He left his cabin shortly before two avalanches thundered down the mountainside. Two search parties failed to find trace of him.

Reno, buses and planes were all reported late in Denver because of the snow. Flights reported closed 100 miles from Reno.

Conny Smythe, master of Maple Leaf Mansion, couldn't have asked for a better going-away gift—he's headed for annual jump to Florida—than 40 shout his team registered over Boston Bruins on Saturday night at Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto. The game, the third Smythe has wanted to see in his home for some time, was a bitter struggle throughout with no punches being pulled, but a few exchanged from time to time. ## HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Editor

There is one weakest point of current bridge players. It is the apocryphal to a simple overall. The only reason for this weakness is lack of basic knowledge.

Because of that lack of basic understanding, responders to a suit may be inclined to depend on their instincts. They may go gut lucky. Or they may not make a wish.

A simple overall, (conceivable) shows a hand that may contain three minimum five tricks, two high cards, one sure, a high double set of five cards. It is a two high and one sure weaker than being better than an opening bid.

Revived Rangers Blank Wings For Solid Grip on 4th Place

(By The Canadian Press)

New York Rangers have started the new year with a bang.

The Bluebirds, revived under coach Bill Cook, showed the championship Detroit Red Wings 1-0 last night. The shortest pot them down with the points of the real and Toronto, late for second place, and the Chicago Blackhawks.

The Rangers, who were long ago the New Yorks were bobbing in and out of the playoffs, were back in Chicago Black Hawks. When Cook, a new face for many years, took over a few years ago, they started the slow climb to the first division.

Second place

Only Tuesday night the Rangers blanked Boston Bruins 6-3 to knock the Beaneaters out of fourth place. Their victory last night duplicated their 4-0 shutout last Wednesday when they ended Detroit's unbeaten string on the road at 11 games.

Eight players by both goals featured last night's contest. It was the first time since the New York Rangers were revived that one player had two goals.

Mossadegh Will Not Accept Bank Proposals

(By The Canadian Press)

Tehran, Iran, Jan. 3. (Reuters)—Prime Minister Mohammed Mossadegh today refused to accept world bank proposals for reviving Iran's oil industry until they are clarified.

He said that the proposals, which reached him today, were not as good as those submitted to him by the world bank when he was in Washington.

In the proposal handed him today "general principles" for reviving the oil industry were outlined. The bank reserved the right to appoint and dismiss the oil board, management and employees being reserved.

The bank said it would provide the money to run the Abadan refinery, the world's largest, closed down since Iran kicked out the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company and nationalized the field last summer.

British Must Not Betray

The prime minister saw two reports in the world bank proposal. According to the world bank, the Iranian newspaper Khabar, he said any proposal from the bank must be within the framework of the nationalization act of 1925.

The bank is a letter to the Iranian people, he said, and it is to the British to betray the rights of the Iranian people.

Learn Strong Arm Methods

Egyptian youths training at Yousuf University, Cairo, as anti-British commands, are being practicing "strong-arm" techniques.

The G.O.C. British troops in Egypt, Lt.-General Sir George Grimes, has issued a warning that if "commandos of young men" from Cairo attacked his men, he would "crush them," adding that he had at his disposal powerful forces which had not been brought into action.

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Jan. 3. (AP)—"It's the penalty of being human," sighed Mickey Rooney.

He was commenting on his slimsy situation. He is paying at the rate of $450 a week for his new 2 (Bet-Joe) Ward and $300 for wife No. 3 (Martha Hickox), he reported. He has no payments to wife No. 1, now Mrs. Frank Sinatra.

Rooney says there will be a settlement with the second Mrs. Sinatra, who has remarried. He has two children by her, one by Mrs. Sinatra.

Rooney has no savings. Part of this is due, he claims, to his management of his funds by advisers.

"But I'm getting on my feet again," he said. "By the end of next year I should be able to save $20,000 or $30,000."

Rooney has deals with his old MGM, where he is supposed to do a picture a year, and with Columbia, where he is director as well as actor.

He has been doing his Andy Hardy role in radio. He also takes an occasional film at night and theatre. This year he will make his debut in television.

Sunday School Lesson of the Week

The Greatest Find in History

By ROY L. SMITH

The Gospel of John—the fourth book of the New Testament—was written in the city of Ephesus, according to the opinions of the world's ablest biblical scholars. And it was written with the deliberate purpose of proving that Jesus of Nazareth, crucified by Pilate, was the Jewish Messiah and the world's savior. All this is stated quite plainly toward the close of the book.

The theme of the book is presented in a simple statement by a fisherman to his brother—"We have found the Messiah." "No greater find has ever been known."

The Uniform Sunday School text for Jan. 6, 1952—"Finding the Christ," John 1:19-51.

Among all peoples there was a yearning for a Messiah. Among the Jews it had appeared, for a Messiah had been expected, under a desert prophet named John, who came out of the wilderness announcing that God was about to take a new line in the affairs of men and set up a new reign on earth. The effect was electric. But a shabby little playboy turned out to be the Messiah, and the revolution ended in blood. The world was left in the fact that a new leader appeared who operated according to an entirely different code and technique.

His eyes on the world Jesus of Nazareth found it difficult to understand him. As a matter of fact, he bewitched us even yet after nearly two thousand years of studying his words and his ideas.

That he believed he was destined to change the world is evident in almost everything he said. It was so clear that he was a prophet to Caesar that he was a prophet to the Jews. He was crucified for the sake of the prince of the realm for he offered us no army and no money, and no weapons of force. But he set men thinking new thoughts, and drew new dreams.

He was a Jew, and he lived in Palestine, but he talked about mankind and kept referring to "the world." He kept thinking about getting to the edge of the farthest horizon.

Something within in us. Somewhere men could not escape the belief that he was different from any other revolutionary they had ever heard of, known. He lived like a man from another world; he talked like a citizen of a new kind of kingdom; he made men believe that they were capable of something infinitely beeyond anything mankind had ever achieved theretofore.

He was a man who had to be crucified, because he was always raising questions in the minds of people. You shouldn't drop him out of the conversation. He kept on talking after they buried him. Men who believed in him lived his life, and he died very solemnly that he had returned to take up his residence in them.

God's Own Representative.

A great thinker who had become prominent in the Christian movement, declared that he was

Russia Wants Cotton

Tehran, Jan. 4 (Reuters)—A plane has told Iran she will deliver 6,000 tons of badly needed sugar, procured under a trade agreement, until Iran sends her 1,200 tons of raw cotton, a finance ministry informant reported today.

He said his government had been unable to buy the cotton from governs because it lacked funds.

In November a Russian trade delegation had told the ministry Russia would send the sugar and take the cotton when it became available, he added.

Christmas Hill
Agam Recaptured
By Allied Troops

Seoul, Jan. 4 (AP)—Allied battalions stormed through heavy mortar and small arms fire today and recaptured Christmas Hill on the east-central Korean battle front.

Communist troops had attacked and won the hill after dark. The assault touched off a new fire fight that lasted throughout most of the night.

The peak had changed hands repeatedly since Chinese troops seized it on Christmas Day. The hill is west of Munsu Valley.

Along the rest of the 145-mile front, the pattern of both sides probed and fought minor skirmishes.

The weather was milder after a week of bitter cold.

The slightly clearing skies brought out Allied planes in a limited number of flights.

Cost of Living Rises in Toronto Tops 100 Points

Index of Prices Decline in First In 23 Months

Ottawa, Jan. 5 (CP)—The housewife list pay dirt during November—the cost of living went down for the first time in 23 months.

But the decline was so small—a drop of one-tenth of a point in the cost-of-living index—that she probably didn't notice it.

In any case, it was an indication of a trend that appeared to be shaping up during the last few months: a flattening out in the house price in family index which pushed the index up 20 points in 1952.

The dip, though small, lowered the index from its peak of 101.2 on Nov. 1 to 101.1 on Dec. 1. The drop of a point in the index was the first since the index was started in 1947.

The previous decline was a half-point during December, 1948, when the index slid to 101.0. Since then, the index has been on a steady upward climb.

There were other significant factors in the index's decline. The index was down 0.1 point in December, 1948, when the index slid to 101.0.

Can Poor Metals Workers to Jobs During Strike

Immediate Settlement Of Issue Not Likely

Toronto, Jan. 5 (CP)—Toronto was a metropolitan dream of a day, second day of the "great sit-up."

As a long and costly strike of streetcar and bus operators appeared developed—both sides to the wage dispute stood firm—thousands of Saturday workers found it easy to get to their jobs.

For traffic was nothing like that of yesterday when the men struck at 5 a. m., leaving tens of thousands of persons to get to work on foot or by bicycle.

With many persons normally at work today, the result was a big increase in motor traffic. Taxis from northern suburbs to the city were in short supply.

Some 4,700 members of the 11 unions, including the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners (A. F. L. - T. O. C.) were affected by the strike.

Governor Dewey Wants N.Y. State To Build Project

Albany, N.Y., Jan. 8.—(AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey today announced the power bill of New York State lawmakers could be out by March 15, and by the completion of proposed hydro-electric projects on the Niagara and St. Lawrence Rivers.

In his opening message to the New York State legislature last Wednesday, Dewey will continue his resolute attack on President Hoover's administration for refusing to permit New York to develop new power facilities on the two rivers. It was learned today that the bill would be introduced in the assembly.

Dewey will blame what he will term a stubborn group of empire builders in the U.S. interior department for blocking New York's proposal to develop St. Lawrence power jointly with Ontario.

Canada recently announced $200,000,000 for the development of St. Lawrence energy project and this has caused New York's chances of obtaining federal permission to build jointly the proposed dams and power houses.

The Ontario Electricity Development Commission has proposed repeatedly that New York and Canada jointly develop power on the St. Lawrence, and the U.S. interior department has refused to approve of power facilities at Niagara Falls, where federal utilities now generate electricity.

The federal power commission has rejected the state's bid to the St. Lawrence, but the state power agency is fighting the rejection in federal court.

John D. Treadwell and Dewey favor development of the St. Lawrence power project. Treadwell, however, that they be handled together under one plan. He said that New York should be permitted to undertake the project with Ontario, so long as the federal government does not approve the federal plan.

DEER SURVIVAL OF FITTEST

By JOHN ALDEN ENRIGHT
(Chief Sportsman, Author and Editor of "Safari")

We were driving through Pennsylvania's Black Forest one day, the warden and I. It was late spring and we were taking a short cut to the headwaters of a trout stream. My stopped the car and pointed to the woods.

Of course I had seen it before — the "deer line" — as it is called. It was a line of deer, some of which were standing in the brush near the road.

The crowd of 4,200, paying $12.00, had gathered in the arena to see the fight between the two deer. The crowd was cheering and shouting.

"It's no wonder," continued the warden, "that our deer are so fat. They are so fat that they can't move."

While winter stars in the deer are fatter than in the summer, they are also more active. They are more active because they are more active.

Ski Slopes Reported Good

Toronto, Jan. 5 (CP)—Ontario's ski slopes are in generally good condition today with a lot of inches of snow reported in most areas.

The last week's mild weather has crusted many districts, but last night's snow which was spread all throughout the province, added inches where they were needed. In most areas, reports vary from "good" to "excellent."

Heartsville boasts the best hills in the province with 10 inches on the low hill and 18 on the high. Generally good conditions prevail at Colborne, Deser, Peterborough and Collingwood. In the north, Inverness, Orangeville, Midland and Collingwood are the same.

Without a snow partner to bid if it would not interfere with a lot. Before now there's a chance to say anything, however, what should we do about it?

West already showed his five tricks with his first defensive bid of one diamond. So he has used up all his tricks. But he has a bidable suit he can show. Will he permit him to show it?

Only when a player increases the bid to show a stronger suit does he promise an additional trick. So he can show his spade suit at the level of one if he will increase in number. Rule says yes.

Unless partner has a wrong sense of basic requirements, such a bid of one spade should not cause criticism. Now should it give any wrong ideas as the number of tricks in west?

It is not the number of bids a player makes that determines how many tricks he shows. It is his bid sequence a definite minimum. Only each raise in number by his partner shows a trick.

Without misinterpreting partner, west gives east something to go on. It is necessary to help in defense.

It may catch east with no support for diamonds but with help for spades. Furthermore, having old diamonds before spades, it is a way of saying west has more diamonds than spades. No secrets.

Movie Column

by BOB THOMAS

Hollywood Jan. 5.—(AP)—The Academy Awards are still two months off, but already people are loth when you ask what props as to the films completed in 1957. It means who this week offered a new method of voting on the Oscars for actors. Since he is president of the Screen Actors Guild, his comments might carry a lot of weight.

"I think it is a mistake to let all the Academy members vote on the actors, even those who are nominated only the actors should be allowed to vote as in the other crafts. Non-actors, even those who are nominated with the picture business, are easily taken in by flattery performers."

"I feel that was evidenced by this year's elections. Jose Ferrer got the Oscar for "Ozzy and Dr. Berger."

AT THE MCCARTHY

One night, a short while ago, beautiful Mari Aldon, an aspiring actress, received a long-distance call from a Warner Bros. talent scout.

"The studio is looking for a new girl to play in a romantic picture story. And we have on 'schedule,'" he explained. "I thought you might be interested. How about dropping in for a screen test?"

Just like that! Well, hardy! Before Mari Aldon, who incidentally hails from Toronto, Canada, even dreamt of such an ideal situation, she spent a better part of her early years preparing for the break that finally came her way. Mari had a starring role with Steve Cochran and Philip Carey in "The Tanks Are Coming."

Warner's action infante to the movie of the 3rd Armored Division whose mighty tank forces smashed through the Siegfried Line during the final stages of World War II. The film opens today at the Odium McCarthy Theatre.

In retrospect, Mari believes that her studio's decision to show business began at the time of two when she gave in to an uncontrollable urge to dance on the stage of the Toronto hotel stadium during a Sousa concert. This unbridled desire resulted in a sound punishment from her irate father, but little Mari became even more determined that someday she would again return to the stage—in time for a more orthodox manner. To further this ambition, Mari moved her school years to dramatic lessons. While the girls were dating, she was taking lessons and more lessons. The studied voice, diction, projection, stage, piano, in short about everything there was to study for the stage. In time, she progressed to appearances on the Alan Young and Great Gildersleeve radio shows. However, it was her stirring portrayal of Stella in the national company's production of "A Streetcar Named Desire" which prompted the Warner Bros. scout to put in the phone call that resulted in Mari being signed to a long-term contract at the Burbank studios, and George O'Hanlon head of the national company of "The Tanks Are Coming" produced by Alan Young. Let's Marie directed.

Long Free of Rats Albertans Battle a Border Invasion

By LOUIE BAUCE
 (Canadian Wire Service)
 Edmonton, (CP)—"Do we want young rats go west," the old rats tell the young rats.
 That is the facetious suggestion of A. M. Wilson, Alberta Field Officer, who has the job of chasing rats from the province.
 For a long time Alberta boasts of being the only rat-free province in North America. Now the rodents have invaded the province on a 40-mile front along the Saskatchewan boundary.
 "They have been found as far as 10 miles inside the province," said Mr. Wilson.
 The infiltrated area starts about 200 miles southeast of Edmonton at Bodo and runs south to Acadia Valley about 150 miles east of Calgary.
 Counter-attack launched.
 The rats have gained a foothold in the province, and a vigorous counter-attack.
 By keeping special crews on the job all winter it is hoped to wipe out the rats before they breed.
 Rats are said to fight in winter better than in the summer and other rodents.
 But even provided the existing colonies are wiped out, the rats in Alberta probably will be a permanent pest because of the large numbers in Saskatchewan adjacent to the Alberta boundary are curbed.
 In Alberta, a bill was passed by the legislature a year ago making rat control the responsibility of the municipalities.
 "The responsibility passes right up to the municipalities," said Mr. Wilson.
 But provincial government is keeping a close check. And it is

Kitten In The Woods

He peered intently through his black pines, his light eyes shining Elizabeth to her chair as though she were a rare species of lapidologist. "Randomness and not indifference! Can't do a thing himself but expects the kindness of others. Lucia is the same. Can't help it of course, but she's a creature of the 'luck'."

"Lucia?"

"Alexander's twin sister. You'll meet her, but not this morning. Breakfast in bed. Pardon me."

A ready guest faced black shadowed eyes, his light eyes shining Elizabeth to her chair as though she were a rare species of lapidologist. "Randomness and not indifference! Can't do a thing himself but expects the kindness of others. Lucia is the same. Can't help it of course, but she's a creature of the 'luck'."

"Tropical fruits in New England?"

"The beamed approval. 'You're an amusing young lady. Most females would not know what I was talking about. Well, believe it or not, they're more than they are.'"

"How amazing?"

"This explained the tropical ferns and palm trees he had seen in the hotel before."

"Hmmm. Well it's my opinion she's not as ill as she pretends. If course a stroke is always a risk at our age." He saw Elizabeth's eyes widen and he smiled broadly.

"Oh yes, I'm in my seventies too. Emily Stincham has a few years on me but she won't admit it. Because it might mean calling in another doctor? Still, if he had known Mrs. Stincham all his life and attended her he would know his patient intimately as well as physically."

"Just what I fear, his condition. Doctor?"

"Remember, last night he passed a week ago. He should be improving because he's been so severe and I administered the best treatment."

"Elizabeth smiled, raised over her memory of medical studies to the worst hemiplegia. Paralysis of one side, usually the result of cerebral hemorrhage or embolism, may result from lesion of the spinal cord or as a by-product of a systemic disease."

ALLAN'S MILLS Cheese Maker For 33 Years Has Retired

Allan Mills—Mr. Roy Brown, cheese maker at Harold factory for the past eight years, has retired after 33 years of outstanding service and in a wonderful climax to his successful career is leaving the industry with an enviable record.

For his efforts during the past year, Mr. Brown won the G. G. Public Memorial trophy which goes to the cheese maker in the Province of Ontario having the highest average score on cheese graded during the current season, combined with his score for workmanship which is based on the condition in which his plant is kept as to neatness and sanitation.

His score on cheese graded was $3.01, which was highest for the province, and a "workman's" score of 100 made him an easy winner.

Wing Trophy at Show

Roy also won the Canadian Dairy of Commerce trophy at the British Empire Dairy Show in Belleville for having the highest average score in Canada in Ontario on cheese graded from May 1st to October 31st inclusive. He has been a constant high scoring maker and his retirement is a loss.

FATALITY INJURED

Toronto, Jan. 8. (CP)—Thomas Benson, 22, formerly an employee of the Postage Division of the Federal Agriculture Department, was fatally injured by an automobile last night. He was secretary of the Ontario Approved Hatcheries Association.

The white hair had been parted down in the center of the head. She was in two neat, pinkish little curls. And like a little girl Emily Stincham gazed back Because it might mean calling in another doctor? Still, if he had known Mrs. Stincham all his life and attended her he would know his patient intimately as well as physically."

"Just what I fear, his condition. Doctor?"

"Remember, last night he passed a week ago. He should be improving because he's been so severe and I administered the best treatment."

"Elizabeth smiled, raised over her memory of medical studies to the worst hemiplegia. Paralysis of one side, usually the result of cerebral hemorrhage or embolism, may result from lesion of the spinal cord or as a by-product of a systemic disease."

Tanks to Rescue

Thanks of the Lord Simthorn House Regiment were used to release vehicles, valued at about $2500, caught in the icy weather which flooded the village of Riverside, Alta., eight miles west of Calgary. Thirty families were forced to leave their homes in the flood. Tanks broke the ice around the vehicles, hemmed in when the waters rose. — (CP Photo)

His fellow cheese makers and many friends in the industry rejoice with him in his success and wish for him and Mrs. Brown many years of health to enjoy a much less strenuous life. Mr. Brown is the third cheese maker in this community to retire from cheese-making. Mrs. Cyril McQueen retired in the fall of 1930 from Coopers factory and is now farming on the homestead, and Mrs. Byron Sedgwick from Bonafide at Maple Leaf factory and has moved on to her farm at Bonafide's Corners.

Hope Waning Montreal Grip Is Still Alive

Miami Fla., Jan. 9.—(AP)—
Hoped to see last night that Mr.
Roosevelt would make union

Friday night in the Florida
Kiss.

"It is almost inconceivable that a person alive and able to walk around would make union
Canadian beauty who vanished
Friday night in the Florida
Kiss."

Barker said it could be considered "significant" that the hunt for a body along the keys is be-

But he added that if Mrs. Lema fell into the sea, the possibility of a body being near the scene of the accident would be remote, because the tide might have swept her miles away.

Two C.N.R. Trains Collide Head-On and Fifty Injured

Deadly Collision

Edmonton, Jan. 9.—(CP)—Two transcontinental passenger trains collided head-on today, killing early today near the west Saskatchewan village of Youker.

About 50 passengers suffered slight injuries. "Small ones and sprains," the C.N.R. said. Only the front wheels of the two locomotives left the tracks. The train cars were derailed.

C.N.R. officials in Edmonton said it was expected to have the train cleared by Jan. 12.

A C.N.R. statement said eastbound No. 4, which left Vancouver Monday night for Toronto

Montreal Sunday night for Vancouver.

Youker is about 130 miles west of Saskatoon. It is a small community just east of the Alberta border.

A C.N.R. spokesman in Vancouver said that the collision occurred on a curve where the train was going south.

A doctor and two nurses from the hospital at Youker traveled to the scene.

At least 130 passengers were treated about the train. If any were seriously injured, they would be taken to the hospital at Youker.

DEWEY PLEDGES LAST PITCH FIGHT FOR POWER PLAN

Says Proposals Blocked By Stubborn Officials

Albany, N.Y., Jan. 9. (AP)— Governor Thomas E. Dewey pledged today to make the "last pitch" fight for his power plan against the Truman administration's refusal to approve New York plans to develop St. Lawrence and Niagara River power projects.

In his annual message to the state legislature, Dewey continued that the national administration was trying to grab all hydroelectric facilities for a "federal power system."

Dewey said the state power authority's proposals were "still being blocked by a stubborn group of Washington officials." Some of the reasons he gave were determined that "all hydro-electric power developments in the country must belong to the federal government."

"I believe we will ultimately win," he declared. The inaction "of the federal government in this matter has cost the people not less than $500,000,000."

In a state power agency has suggested that New York be permitted to develop the St. Lawrence project.

The federal power commission has rejected New York's plan for the St. Lawrence project. The commission has said that the project is not in the public interest.

Both Truman and Dewey have favored the St. Lawrence project.
The project would develop the St. Lawrence river into a series of dams.

Over 50 lovely aprons, all shapes, sizes and colors arrived as Christmas gifts from the sister institute at Bristol, England. Each member present drew a number and received an apron. Mrs. Macdonald, the president of "Agriculture and Country" took charge and gave a few current facts about the latest fashions in aprons. She then quoted from a farm magazine that said that in 1934 during that month all the aprons in Canada sold to the tune of $25,000,000 of eggs worth $1,250,000.

Mrs. George Haseman, assistant convenor, presided at the piano. She also sang "Winter Woodland" and also conducted a round of songs. The singing, which included "Old Macdonald" and "And Lead Him Home."

Mrs. Frank Stone, assistant agricultural representative of Hastings county who was introduced by Mrs. Stone, gave an educational and interesting talk on the subject of "Gardening up to date in Gardening."

Mrs. Stone explained how people in the winter for people to grow food in their small gardens and said in those days of high food costs, a small garden could produce up to $100 worth of food for the family. She said that if it can be located near the house and a good fence is well worth the expense.

Garden crops used at least six hours of direct sunlight daily. She also explained the various kinds of soil, the value of soil manure, plowing down the weeds and grass, and the use of a good manure and fertilizer. She said that all well known for analysis will pay dividends.

Garden Side Dressing.

Several small gardeners use the plan of side dressing to rows of plants with fertilizer and find this is the most economical. Avoid acids and too deeply, small seeds covered thickly about 1/4 inch and were about 1 inch is a good rule to follow.

There are various plant diseases, fungus, bacterial virus and soil conditions. The members gave a good description of these diseases and told of the members that are on the market. He discussed spring calendars and seed beds which are available at the agricultural office and would be a great help to any gardener.

Recommendations of the gardeners with copper dust before the night. The best of the very often the light is carried away by winds. Poles bent for previous to planting rule down the soil. The first evening after a real warm day in May will find the garden busy. It has been found that ordinary good makes a good bed for wire worms.

Weeds harbor diseases and take up nutrients. The best eradicator, the best herbicide, 2-4-D is good for use at edge of garden but must be used carefully.

New Vegetable Varieties.

The new varieties of vegetables are big improvements over the usual seeds sold commonly in stores. If there was a greater desire for these better varieties they would be sold.

In the discussion period which followed, the balcony address, it was advised to cut out the grass-stalks in the fall, to fertilize early in the spring, to use a good fertilizer in the garden for cut grass and can be easily carried and burned in the early spring.

Mrs. Harry Vandervoort extended thanks to Mr. Stone for his timely talk as practically all the members have gardens and then the speaker was given a hearty ovation.

Mrs. Ed Haseman conducted an architectural quiz with the groups having correct answers. All were treated to super-nice pop corn.

Mrs. Macdonald, president.

Construction of Natural Gas Pipeline from Alberta to Montreal May Put Canada Into "Gas Age"

Construction of a gas pipeline from the Alberta oilfields as far east as Montreal may hinge on the decision of Alberta's conservation board. The decision is expected to be announced on March 15. If Alberta decides there is an exportable surplus, Canada may step into a "gas age" almost overnight. Already a pipeline company is planning to build the 2,240-mile line at a cost equal to that of the St. Lawrence seaway, about $75,000,000. The line would revolutionize commercial and domestic heating in millions of homes and facilities. It is believed it would be cheaper than coal or fuel oil, easier to handle and cleaner. The line would have 5,000 customers per mile as compared to the 400 per mile in the Texas-to-Boston 2,000-mile pipeline. — Central Press Canadian.

10-WEEK PUEL

In the last few minutes the sound of their screams. Only the bow of the Enterprise was visible. At 5:20 p.m. flames on the surface of the water near the ship were lighted, casting a weird light over the sea as the Enterprise took her final plunge.

On minute later the Enterprise was below the sea.

Carlsen and Dancy were taken into the cabin of the Turrell by his ship's crew. Capt. Parkes said at Falmouth, the Enterprise's haven had also won the battle, as ship-to-ship radio messages told of the end.

An aircraft carrier plan to rescue the two men by helicopter had to be abandoned because of the weather.

The Enterprise, an 18,000-ton liner vessel insured for $125,000, was en route to Hamburg, Germany, to New York, when her Christmas Eve party caught her about 500 miles off England. For days she had sailed with a crew of 1,000 men and women.

She last Saturday the tug Turrell began towing her to a towing line.

Two-line haws.

But early Wednesday the 750 yard towline snapped under the buffeting of the sea.

Matters got worse from that moment. The Enterprise was against the courageous skipper.

He gave up the idea of towing the ship with water badly, but he decided with Dancy still the hunter of the ship, covering her with the water and spray, and still hoped for the best.

Monday night the Enterprise slipped her tow and the air and sea still slowly into the crashing.

She was towed by her haul and hauled.

Later, later, at 3:44 p.m. (10:53 a.m. EST), the EGYPT (10,535 tons, 227 ft) ran aground on the reef over her deck. The water was lifted with the force of some dozen hawking in the setting sun.

She was lifted and a chunk of her hull came off as she ran aground.

Clash on Turrell

Carlsen and Dancy climbed to the top of the funnel as the ship began to topple. They jumped clear, away from five minutes, then heaved themselves up the ship's ladder at the side of the Turrell.

The Turrell radioed: "Both men okay. Checkmate done is Captain's cabin."

Rescue came about 3:30 p.m. (10:30 a.m. EST). Just before the men were reported aboard the Enterprise an excited voice crackled over the radio of the watching ship.

Willard Keith: "The Flying Enterprise is being down—the Flying Enterprise is being down."

"We are making efforts to rescue the men," he said.

The rescue was made after the ship was lifted by the men by helicopter. Carlsen and Dancy were taken to the hospital from the ship's rigging still being held by a Royal Air Force helicopter.

Keith refused to abandon the sinking ship. He said he was waiting for a ship to come. But after a while he was taken to the hospital by a helicopter.

He said the ship was being lifted by a helicopter. The original plan was to have Carlsen and Dancy taken to the hospital by a helicopter.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

Watch What Your Eyes Say

By HEATHER FAIRFAX
The problem's a bit different, but the solution's the same.

Dear Alice Fairfax:
My problem is not like most of those I see in your column, but I do want to have helped other people so I thought maybe you could help me, too.
When I was 13, I was very fat, weighing over 147 pounds. I went in a day, dropped eating between 10 and 11, and weighed 118. My weight is now 112.

The problem is that when I go to a party, I want to eat a lot of food, like cream and other things, because I am afraid I might start gaining again, and I can't make people understand how I feel. They tell me I don't want to eat, but I do. I feel I am going to get fat again because I am going out to eat, and my mother blames it on me.

Do you think if I do eat before my meals like the rest of the world, I would gain all that weight?

Can you tell me some foods I might eat so I am not so fat?

Dear Alice: If you are strong, slender, and you keep from eating too much, I congratulate you. Many people, especially older ones, too, don't have that strength. I realize it's hard, and that it's not easy to keep from eating too much. I realize it's hard, and that it's not easy to keep from eating too much.

Perhaps you could learn to eat a little more of the things that are healthy, like fruits and vegetables, and less of the things that are not so healthy, like sweets and fats. I realize it's hard, and that it's not easy to keep from eating too much.

Try this compromise, and see how you get on. If you can eat a little more of the things that are healthy, like fruits and vegetables, and less of the things that are not so healthy, like sweets and fats, I realize it's hard, and that it's not easy to keep from eating too much.

Wants to marry, but won't give her first friend

Dear Alice: I have been going with a man of 33, I am 27. We both of us have been planning to marry, but I don't want to give him my first friend.

Varied Year

Britain's financial difficulties were reflected by London Stock Exchange prices in 1931, as shown on this graph by Reuters News Agency. An early-year build-up retained most of its gains to the end of October, but credit restrictions brought a steep decline in the last two months. Golds lost their steam about mid-year and were in lower ground at year-end than they were at the beginning—(CP Photo.)

Witness Called Police Informer By Defence

SAULT STE. MARIE, Jan. 10 (CP)—A witness called a "police informer" by the Crown and a "police informer" by the defence provided the evidence Wednesday which brought Mrs. Margaret Sawchyn a two-month jail term on a bootlegging charge.

Clarence Robinson, a watchman at the Sault ship canal who said he was sworn in as a special constable in 1926, testified he entered the Sawchyns' home in plain clothes and bought liquor with a $10 bill given him by police.

Defence counsel I. A. Varnell said the man was none of a police informer or an accomplice.

Tweed Resident Reported Improved

Due to retirement from the railroad early next spring, Mr. Wilson recently purchased a home in Bowmanville and plans to make his future home there.

A similar charge against her husband, Nicholas Sawchyn, was dismissed for lack of evidence.

"Miracle" Ship Takes Off from Cobourg Field

Airborne again is the giant U.S. airliner which landed on a farmer's field at Cobourg, Ont., three weeks ago. The "Comandante" revolved on the spot by mechanics, rose slowly into the air and headed for Trenton airport before flying to Malton, then on to Chicago and Los Angeles. None of the passengers was injured when the plane made a "miracle" landing in the plowed field. — Central Press Canadian.

AIR SHIP WENT ON TO BE MOVED BY MECHANICS WHEN THE PLANE LANDED. Damage was relatively slight. — Central Press Canadian.

Red Cross Notes

The Red Cross magazine "Dispatch" devotes a whole page to a New Year's suggestion for a Red Cross campaign. The suggestion is to have a "Blood Donor Week" in January. The National Executive of the Canadian Red Cross accepted the suggestion of the Department of National Defence to provide a certain quota of blood. As you may know, it takes three donations of blood to fill one bottle. The Ontario Division Executive accepted responsibility for the collection.

The Blood Donor Committee received the problem and found a solution by asking all branches with a population of 10,000 or over to enroll blood donors and prepare for mobilization. So far, about 10,000 bottles have been supplied. The Department of National Defence and four thousand more are needed before March.

Under the chairmanship of Mr. E. K. Follwell, Belleville is holding the January Blood Donor Clinic at the Northern Electric Company. Members of the Kiwanis Club are giving their services. Following blood donors: By giving blood, the life of a child, man, woman or fighting man, who needs a little of your blood will be saved. Be a blood donor!

Have you ever considered how fortunate we are in Belleville to live in a community that offers a "Blood Donor Service"?

There are just 54 Ontario communities that have one. There is exceptional service in the Red Cross Visiting Homemakers for efficient, kindly women are sent right into your home to care for the children and family for any urgent reason, such as mother being ill in hospital or at home. It makes a tremendous difference to the welfare of everyone concerned in a family to have ill and well alike. How meals are economically well-prepared and nourishing that the home is being cared for by the children well-served.

DARKED FROM QUESTIONING

London, Jan. 11 (Reuters). — The King's projected South African rest cure has stirred up criticism among a number of British leftists, mostly about the union government's white supremacy laws.

Two Labor members of parliament, Leslie Hale and Fenner Brockway, announced they were going to question the government about the trip but they were told that parliamentary procedure bars questions of that nature.

The weekly Tribune, which is for the Labor group led by South African plan "deeply resented. The rest cure is on hand for every emergency, great or small. The so-called small thing is cause most people are unaware of them; such as the case of the young married couple who arrived as far as Belleville, last Sunday, trying to hitch-hike their way from Toronto to New Brunswick. The wife, 16 pregnant and ill; the husband, 20 and penniless. A small child, 5 years old, to them, to have a Red Cross official authorize a ticket be purchased immediately for the wife and passenger home in comfort.

Or—take—Christmas morning when a fire displaced an overseas soldier's wife and three children, age 15, 12 and eight, and the home and belongings. The public's response to Mary Porter's appeal for financial aid was overwhelming. While the Red Cross assembled necessary clothing and provided shelter. Again, there was a large basket of groceries sent to a family in need of food when deprived of their home. New Year's day. Numerous are the calls covered by the Red Cross, like a case of mercy, bringing untold relief and benefit to those in dire need—great or small.

HOSE DESTROYED

American call, Jan. 11 (AP). —Ollerton Mills, which turned Coca-Cola bottles, during the running of the sixth race at Santa Anita racetrack, had to be destroyed.

The horse broke its front leg, stumbling and throwing its rider, Jack Westmore, who was not injured.

Ollerton Mills was an eligible for the Santa Anita handicap. It was its first start in the United States.

BANCROFT
Growth of Credit Union Outlined

Bancroft: — North Hastings Community Credit Union Limited official, reported considerable progress at the monthly meeting of the body at the home of J. W. C. Hutton, on Tuesday night.

To show the growth of the organization the secretary, G. Ward read the membership list showing that the group had expanded from six to 34 in 10 months. Mr. Ward also informed the members that the capital had grown from $250 to $100 in the same period, and that to date five loans had been made to members.

After a discussion the meeting, which was a joint affair for all committees, decided to embark on a membership campaign to double the present number by the next month. The present members are a study group who investigated and studied credit union problems for eight months before they formed the body. It was decided to hold the meeting on the first Tuesday in February in Bancroft Community Hall as all felt that the gathering would be too large for an individual home. An outside speaker, probably a member of the provincial executive body, will be brought to town for that evening.

In charge of the meeting was the president of the local credit union, Dr. E. V. Harvett, assisted by the chairman of the supervisory and credit committees.

DELIBERATELY JAMMED London, Jan. 11 (Reuters). — The British Broadcasting Corporation and yesterday's Finnish transmission of the Soviet broadcast were deliberately jammed by a source outside Finland. It is similar to the letter to that used against BBC Russian broadcasts and there are indications it is coming from the same source, a BBC spokesman said.

NEHRU FAN AHEAD New Delhi, Jan. 11 (AP). — Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru's governing Congress party won 20 of the 26 seats so far decided in India's extended series of parliamentary elections. Parliament has a total of 487 seats, 400 of them directly elected. The elections are being held progressively over the vast country.

The committee piloted by the people from Transvaal-Cobalt State.

Just A Few Words

The Speaker Said: Then he talked for hours. Though no one minded how he talked because he raved about the service and cleaning at your friendly cleaner.

Schuman Plan Wins Approval In Crucial Vote

Bonn, Germany, Jan. 11 (AP).

The Schuman plan to pool western Europe's coal and steel resources won a crucial vote of approval from the west German parliament today.

On its second reading as a bill, the plan was approved 225 to 144. Final passage on third reading later today appeared assured.

The vote on the revolutionary move toward west European unity was a victory for west German Chancellor Konrad Aden-aure, fighting bitter socialist opposition. Adenauer said the plan was a test of whether Europe could settle its quarrels.

Of the five other countries whose governments agreed to join the plan—France, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg—only The Netherlands has formally ratified the agreement.

Formal approval by the other countries is expected soon. The French and communist parties throughout Europe oppose the plan. The United States favors it. Britain refused to join but promised close co-operation.

Specialty-Designed Equipment Installed to Give Quick And Efficient Service

Lloyd's Cleaners, formerly located in the downtown area has announced the opening of a new plant located at 160 Catherine Street.

The new plant is 80 feet by 100 feet and is of concrete and concrete block construction. The lighting in the plant is an innovation in the cleaning industry in that all the windows extend in length of the plant on the western side, while on the opposite side there are two feet high. Combined with fluorescent lighting throughout the interior, they tend to make the new building one of the best lighted in the city.

On stepping inside the front door of the establishment, the customer stands at a curved counter beneath a padded ceiling which extends about ten feet out from the front wall as well as over the outer approaches to the front door. The entire working section of the plant is visible from the counter.

Something new in the way of floor finishes has been applied to the reinforced flooring of concrete and steel meshing. The surface has been treated with "Colomarine", giving an especially smooth finish, making it appear almost like a tile floor. This new substance has the effect of keeping down dust and no special floor preparation is needed in sweeping.

To the left of the counter is the office while immediately behind the counter is the shipping department.

Another innovation in this area is a Flex-form machine, being one of the two of its kind between Toronto and Ottawa. When a dress is checked in it is measured on this machine for its actual size and the size marked on a tag attached to the garment. After cleaning, the garment is inspected and spotted before going to the finishing department where it is placed on the Flex-form machine.

Adjust Dials

Four dials on the machine are adjusted to the measurements marked on the tag, and the garment is returned to its former size while being pressed. It is then touched up by the staff from behind which the pleats and hems are done on a special press board and the garment is ready for delivery. This new method does away with all shins or impetuous of seams in the pressing.

Pressing of outer garments is done by an air vacuum machine instead of the regular steam iron. This enables garments to hold their crease much longer and also eliminates shine and returns the original nap to the fabric.

All clothing is pre-spotted and buttons removed prior to cleaning as well as any items found in pockets. The buttons are sewn back on after cleaning and the other items are placed in its envelope and returned with the garment. The man in charge of the inspection and cleaning has had

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAULKNER
Disillusioned by a former husband

To have a disillusioning experience is like having a painful illness.

During the acute state of the illness the sufferer is in a state of shock. Then, as recovery begins, and gradual return to normal occurs, the sufferer must struggle with the question of how to live his life.

Of interest in anything the feeling is that in living his life he will never be enough energetic, enough enthusiastic, enough desirous to be loved and enjoyed.

But little by little, strength does return and with it normal energy, and the wish to be a part of the world again.

One more, eagerly, one more plan, looks forward to getting back to the new experience and new friends that will be coming along.

And suddenly, one is well, strong, and ready to go on with life. But the way is not without its difficulties.

That the way is not without its difficulties, and the way it is that the sufferer must inevitably follow the shock of a bitter disillusionment.

It is a frequent trouble with the lover, however, is that the person suffers from it so often as to be unable to believe in the possibility of recovery.

And, as in physical illness again, such refusal definitely retards recovery, prolongs the period of depression and discouragement and leads to a state of life that follows the acute stage.

Keep the sufferer out of contact with the things that will bring him back to normal. Remotely Disillusioned

This, unfortunately, seems to be the only way to help the person who has had a romantic disappointment and, as a result, has now decided to renounce all thought of romance forever; that he may live as contented as he could.

It is her story, as she tells it in a letter:

"Two years ago, I met a young man who immediately became very much interested in dating me. He professed to be a student of law, and talked of marriage.

My father was prepared to finance an elaborate wedding, and my mother was anxious to see me married. Everything was set, when, one day, my father told me that he had discovered that my husband-to-be was a fraud.

My father told me that he had discovered that my husband-to-be was a fraud. My father told me that he had discovered that my husband-to-be was a fraud.

By SAM GORDON
The Athlete

Where a "bridge" decision is based on opinion, expert players are seldom in full agreement. It stands to reason, therefore, that rule should be the arbiter of a doubtful point.

A close point comes up in this deal.

♠ 5 7 8 9

The bidding has led along to New.

South West North East
1 C 1 D Pass Pass
2 D 1 S Pass Pass
3 N 2 H

The two deals by south went orders from north to bid it would not interfere with a bid.

north made a bid of two hearts when west passed the second double.

The simple overall view is that the controversy until necessary. When north bid two hearts, west was ready to come to life. He has some cards in the hand.

He has support for each of the suits bid by the north, and he is in diamonds and spades. The question for him to decide is whether to try two spades or three diamonds.

If east passes in diamonds it will be necessary for him to go to the level of three. If he passes in spades he can say to the level of two, which should be preferred?

The order in which west bid his suits showed west with at least five diamonds and four spades. So east knows the pair has a total of more diamonds than they have spades.

With a total of more diamonds in his hand, west has enough for a game to the level of three. East tells him to elect to play at the suit trump suit; that is, in diamonds.

If you prefer spades, I respect your opinion.

Remember When

(By The Canadian Press)

Adrian Quilt and Jack Brown of Australia established themselves as the leading tennis doubles team by beating Don Budge and Gene Maek of the United States in an exhibition at Adelaide, Australia, 14 years ago today. The Aussie duo later that year lost to Budge and Maek in the U.S. championships, but came back in September to win the Davis Cup doubles.

March 22 to April 21—(Aries)—You BORN TODAY? Know the facts! Business ability. Usually serious, thoughtful. Practical. Good money or time. Politely. Are dignified, preserving. All this, of course, if living true to your better nature. May take to worrying over details in your job, little details. This you must overcome. It hinders greatly. You can handle big jobs, enterprises, make able sales engineer.

Right education and companions, and you can make fine name for yourself.

Kitten In The Woods

By Kathleen Briggs

"Poor boy, I can't believe it!" Elizabeth at the wall, visualizing the kitten she had seen there years before. "And I don't know why it came or what he was doing there. But I have thought it very important to have it done."

"A sound in the doorway made her turn sharply. For a moment she smiled at a lightning apparition stood there, but when she saw Mrs. Sturtevant, she turned away with a gasp. "That Mr. Devanter is below."

"He wants to see me," Mrs. Sturtevant said. "I'll go down."

"I can't get over how he has all the character in that man!" she purred to herself. "He is just the man I need."

"For all we know Lucian may have been a good husband," she said. "He is a good man."

Junior Hawks Take 2 in Row From Lindsay Kinsmen to Edge Within One Point of Top Spot

Beating in three games in the first period without a reply, the Belleville Junior Hawks not only played the visiting Lindsay Kinsmen to win a 3-1 decision in the first game of the weekend series on Monday night.

The Hawks, who are undefeated at 11-0-0, took the win in the first game of the series, which was played at the Lindsay Kinsmen's home rink. The Hawks, who are undefeated at 11-0-0, took the win in the first game of the series, which was played at the Lindsay Kinsmen's home rink.

DON BARCLAY

Heavy Thunders scored what was perhaps the prettiest goal of the night's play to open the scoring in the game. He took a pass from Wilson behind his blue line and stick handled through the defence to the net.

Wilson, the Kinsmen net, who had a ruled shot from 30 feet out.

Couch finished.

Early before the halfway mark in the period, Vasey and McDonald of the visitors were the first to score. Shortly after the other "Red" Mitchell, Lindsay coach, admitted to a second goal and referee Bill Hanson went to the effecting him from the game.

Both the Kinsmen were two men short, Dorn and DeGreey got the Hawks two goals.

After the Hawks returned to the ice, Don Marshall was called for elbowing and benching. The referee had pointed what proved to be the winning mark.

After a beautiful three-way save play from Green at the end of the second period, the Hawks, who were in the lead, were in the lead.

Both sides played cautiously in the third period with the result that neither team scored. Play was only only that the Hawks were being called and both goal-keepers were in the game.

Dorn and Mason closed for the third. Lindsay set up the first one and Dorn received a shot on the other.

US College Sports Over-Emphasized, But Writers Fail to Agree on Cure

New York, Jan. 15 (AP)—Are college sports in the United States over-emphasized?

Most of the men who write about them and broadcast them think so. The college sports are over-emphasized, and they've got to find a way to cure the situation, as a dog has fleas.

Most of the writers and broadcasters voting in the Associated Press annual poll agreed that there's too much emphasis on college sports in the United States. Only 15 per cent said there was no over-emphasis.

The football coaches voted in the two-platoon system, although it must be approved by the N.C.A.A., rules committee this week. But the N.C.A.A. did act to voting practice to students.

ADVICE is the LOVELORN

By SEATHORN FAIRFAX

He says about his case: maybe he's at fault, too

A long and rather confused letter from a man who is all tangled up in a variety of family matters.

His troubles stem from a divorce seven years ago, as a result of which he received custody of two sons, whom he and his mother never saw again until recently, when they were looked after by the state.

This man has now been married to a second wife for 23 years. He has four children by this marriage. The present wife has been a step-mother in addition to these.

The oldest son was married, and his father left him his car, money and his own mother. And when the woman learned the facts, he went to his father, and became attached to her. The other boy by his father, has never been told about his first mother, and his father says he never intends to tell him.

The second son, his married wife's friendship with his mother, and she says she says the son seems to blame him for the fact that she died.

In addition to this, the son feels his father didn't do enough for his present family.

He has a position which keeps him in another city, where he has his own little to pay, and my own which is high, so I can't be expected to do much for them.

The third son writes me: "I realize they have little, but my mother is a beautiful woman, and does with what she has. I don't want to be a burden to the family, and since my mother is dead, I am doing well, married and all, and is doing well, I think if he feels the family has a lot, he should help them out more. When this son visited me, I told him I lived two walls and that the family suffered, but he said where I was at fault, my work keeps me away from home."

"I feel we have always been poor, but I have never covered had much materially, and I feel that I am an idiot. I am not my father, and he should respect me. Of the two sons by my first marriage, he is exactly like his own mother, the other more like my mother. What can I do to make him realize that he is wrong?"

My advice: I am afraid this correspondent of mine is going to be very disappointed with what I have to say in answer to him. For my best opinion is that his father, if he made some changes and adjustments in his attitude towards his way of living, it would remove much of the friction between himself and his son.

In the first place, I think he should realize, and understand, that it is only natural for a young man to want to know his own mother. Moreover, I think that if he has any confidence in the standards he has passed on to his children, he should be able to trust this son of his to have the common sense and the judgment to make his relationship with his mother a wholesome one. On this point, I believe he should help his son to develop such a relationship and guide him in it.

In the second place, the father needs to have it borne in upon him that respect is not due a man from his children simply because he is their parent. On the contrary, he can expect it only if he has made himself into the kind of person who is worthy of that feeling. If his son does not show him proper respect, it is not because so much the son was not be half as much the son as he is at fault as the father.

What I think the letter raises a question in my own mind as to whether or not the father may be unfairly fair financially to his family. It seems to me that if he has found it impossible to give them adequate support, because he must maintain separate living quarters, that he should at least be able to say he might well consider the possibility of doing so. I think, however, that all living expenses could be entered in one household, it does not seem possible to me that any husband and father should go on indefinitely living apart from his family in this way. If he is in no proper terms with them.

What I have just said is not to be taken in the sense that I am accusing this man. What I mean to do is simply to suggest that he should consider the possibility which is might be beneficial for him to consider honestly. If he did so, he might find his problems easier to solve than he now believes.

Tomato Juice
Beef and Kidney Pie with Melton
Braised Spaghetti or French Green
Crisp Green Salad
Orange Ambrosia
Coffee

DIRECTIONS:

To make the beef and kidney pie order 1 or 1-1/4 lb. flank steak or stewing beef and 2-1/2 lb. pork or beef kidneys or our family beef. If you are very fond of kidneys as our family is, trim the witness part from the kidneys and cut them and the pork or beef into approximately 1-inch pieces. Soak kidneys in cold water 1-2 hours, drain and pepper and dry them and roll them and the beef pieces in salted and peppered flour. Brown all of the meat in hot dripping. Bacon or chicken drippings are delicious. Cook turnings them over until all sides are a golden brown. Shake over them a little additional salt and pepper, add 1-1/2 cups boiling water, cover and simmer until meat is nearly tender, adding extra boiling water as it evaporates. Meanwhile make:

MELTON MOWBRAY PASTRY

Two cups plus 3 tablespoons unsifted pastry flour, 1-1/2 cup lard or shortening, 3-4 cup hot water, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon baking powder. Add the lard to the boiling water and bring to a boil, then add the flour, salt and baking powder, and mix until smooth. Cool, covered, for 1 to 2 hours or while the meat is cooking for the pie.

Roll Melton Mowbray pastry out to 1-4 inch thickness on floured board. Cut long 2 or 3 inch wide strips to line of baking dish. Lay out in beef and kidney filling (see above), and cover with top crust to fit, making 1-2 inch overlap. Bake in hot oven until brown and has been baked at centre to allow steam to escape. Seal edges by moistening crust with a very little water. Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for about 20 minutes or until crust is puffed and golden and liquid on meat bubbles a little through gaps.

Fashion Flashes

FANTASY is the keynote of many hats and headpieces designed for wear with evening clothes—such as a peaked crown of black velvet centered with soaring glycerinated black catfish feathers. Clever fingers can whip up slightly pretty numbers, the many show with the machine.

HOW PRETTY a picture is a young girl in her first dance dress—a frothy affair of tulle, topped with a bow of snowy ermine. A new entry in the world of fashion is an elbow-length capelet of ermine, the pelts woven horizontally across, and made with a softly curving little petal collar that closes high at the neckline.

A NEW TWIST to the ensemble is to have a fitted coat rather than the duster or jacket that has been popular for so long. The fitted coat is called a "tuxedo" and the redingite, it would seem, at this spring. A fitted coat in bright red flannel trims up with a dress of finely plaided red, white and blue printed silk taffeta, the same fabric lining the coat.

A WEALTH of ideas appears to recent clothes, such as a suit composed of a wide-length jacket, white blouse and a full, circular skirt of white linen plaided in blue, brown, beige and black.

FRANKLY FLATTERING are those little flower-impregnated hats, in face powder like, that are brightening military departments just now. Puffs for felt make a ring, profits cap with a softly curving cuff. It marks the way side with clusters of soft felt flowers, each, one centered with blue, white and blue silk rose pink.

SUCH A CHANGE as there is in the evening called a sweater. But we think it looks more like a sweater, profits cap with a softly curving cuff. It marks the way side with clusters of soft felt flowers, each, one centered with blue, white and blue silk rose pink.

Eden Confirms Britain and U.S. Reach Agreement

London, Jan. 16 (Reuters).—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden today confirmed that the United States and Britain had reached agreement on certain material supply problems.

Eden told reporters on his return from the U. S. and Canada, that his and Prime Minister Churchill's visit to Washington had been "a satisfactory one from the point of view of both countries."

Details of the new agreement would be announced soon, he said.

(According to authoritative sources in Britain, an Anglo-American raw materials pact gives Britain a big new supply of U. S. steel—possibly more than 1,000,000 tons this year.

Britain in return will send the U. S. an undischarged amount of aluminum. The U. S. also is reported to have promised to resume paying Malaysia the white man's rubber after a price dispute early last year.)

Eden said he had left Churchill "in good heart." He described his two weeks in North America as "enormous and, I think, successful."

Repeats Caution
He repeated Churchill's caution at the start of the talks that no sensational results could be expected.

"We did not go out to make detailed and specific agreements," Eden said, "but to review the world scene, with our American friends and in Canada to renew the fraternal associations which we hold so dear."

"I am confident that the results of our conversations—which covered a wide field—will have further increased the measure of agreement between us and enable us to make a still more effective constructive contribution to the cause we all hold of strengthening world peace."

The foreign secretary said he had returned to London sooner than expected because work was piling up on his desk.

He said he would be meeting the finance ministers of the commonwealth, now conferring in London to solve the acute money problems of the sterling area.

Accompanying Eden was Gen. Sir George Tomlinson, appointed by Churchill to be Britain's new high commissioner and "strong man" in hand-to-hand talks.

South Africa Subject of Talk To Kiwanis Club

The people, country, and natural resources of South Africa were the subject of a talk presented to the Kiwanis club on Tuesday by John J. Trainer, an engineer with Stephens-Adams Manufacturing Company.

Mr. Trainer, although born in Scotland and presently employed in Belleville, spent eight years in South Africa as a plant manager for his present employer, coming here in 1937.

"The Afrikaans," as the inhabitants are now called, are composed of Dutch, German, Malayans, French, Scottish and various other races, the speaker explained. They have incorporated their own language and their own customs.

Of the total population, he continued, approximately two million live in the city of Cape Town, and twelve million are natives. The natives comprise the bulk of the country as they are considered to be inferior if treated properly.

Mr. Trainer said the most feared of the natives is the Zulu, who are a fierce and warlike people. He said that if one becomes arrested, it is quite liable to roll a car over the side of the road.

Canadian Editors Undertake To Predict What Will Happen In Last Half of Century

By CHARLES BRUCE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Forecast for the year 2000. A world fringed by the iron curtain, its industries powered by dividing atoms, its governments reorganized or merged, its people more lightly shadowed by disease, its adventures beginning to explore the reaches of the universe. In brief, that is the picture of the future seen by news editors of Canadian daily newspapers. They were asked by The Canadian Press to forecast the five major news stories of the next half-century. Their guesses, based on widely ready hints at in science, politics and human nature, differed widely in detail, but the general trend was this:

The Atom
Atomic energy will be put to present commercial use and become the chief power in travel and industry. More than 20,000 editors who represent the news development have seen this development before the news closes. Some members saw it specifically as opening the way to larger populations through wide use in generating heat. In general, they believe the world is in for an Atomic Revolution in this century, more spectacular than was the industrial revolution in the last 150.

Medical Science
Medical science will attain new goals in its research through quest of cancer, polio and other diseases of the human body. The quest of cancer, polio and other diseases of the human body. The quest of cancer, polio and other diseases of the human body.

Defeat of Communism
The half-century will see the end of the iron curtain. Many of those who made this prediction believe it will be achieved by a combination of outside forces—within-perhaps on Stalin's death—or by a combination of outside forces—within-perhaps on Stalin's death.

Government
A shift in the lineup of government in the household of several states will be the result of the new world power with possible advent of communism in the next quarter of this century. A couple of states in the United States, several in Europe, and a few in Asia.

Space Travel
More than one-third the forecasting editors believe there will be some sort of space travel—probably still in the dare-devil stage—by the century's end. The moon was mentioned most frequently as the first objective likely to be reached in this inter-planetary journey.

Warfare
Advances in social welfare, particularly in Atomic energy, will be the result of the new world power with possible advent of communism in the next quarter of this century.

Disasters
Despite the old-fashioned adage that there's a little news in every two editors thought it noteworthy that mankind at the end of the century will be better rather than worse. One, in slightly foolish mood, wrote:

"The greatest trend in the next 50 years will be the narrowing margin between the age limit for baby and the age limit for pension. It is our prophecy that they will overlap for many years by the year 2000."

Two others marked "end of war" among their choices. They made no suggestion on how to repeat this event.

Farmers Disappointed
Toronto, Jan. 15 (CP)—Farmers throughout Ontario have been disappointed in the results of a long drive during the week, the Department of Agriculture stated today.

Some areas reported prices of eggs the dropping. In Prince Edward County in Canada's Ontario, eggs dropped 34 cents a dozen, for instance, from 28 to 25 cents.

Feed supplies in general appear adequate and livestock are in good condition, despite the time of year, the weekly report said.

Mother Surprised, Expected Twins Had Quadruplets

Nashville, Ark., Jan. 15 (AP)—A surprised, 38-year-old farm wife who was expecting twins gave birth to quadruplets Monday.

The babies, three boys and a girl, were born to Mrs. Mabel Ponder, the mother of eight other children, at her small farm house 2 1/2 miles north of Marbleboro, Ark., 20 miles from Nashville. The first child arrived at 7:10 p.m. CDT. The others followed at 7:15, 7:30 and 7:45.

Mr. D. Duncan, who was with Mrs. Ponder at the time, said the mother was doing nicely. Dr. Duncan said he was as surprised as the mother. He also was looking for twins.

Mrs. Ponder didn't have much to say when she came out from under the anesthetic. Dr. Duncan said she only remark when she had given birth to four babies, "I was expecting two."

It was a different story for her husband, Leonard Ponder, 41. Accompanied by three women neighbors, he drove to a Nashville hospital with the babies. He drove the baby the women carried the infants.

Ponder reported to the night nurse on duty: "Two got four little babies and they're all mine."

The babies were placed in bags, weighed, a hospital attendant said they were doing well. The babies were placed in bags, weighed, a hospital attendant said they were doing well.

The Ponder family has 11 children. The oldest child is 21 years old. The family is now living in a 3-room house.

It will be a time the new arrival.

12 Crew Members Die

Kirkwall, Orkney Islands, Jan. 16 (Reuters)—The worst gale in the history of the Orkney Islands struck on these rocky islands during the night of Jan. 15.

Every one of the 12 inhabited Orkney Islands reported major damage, in the 130 miles-in-long island. There were no lives lost.

Roofs were ripped off the solid square stone houses and buried hundreds of yards.

Many buildings were demolished, some scarcely unscathed. Haystacks everywhere were blown away or dropped into the sea.

Fishing boats were at their moorings. Boats were knocked at many points with debris and wreckage communications were cut off.

London, Jan. 15 (AP)—The famed Lutime Bell at Lloyd's of London failed twice today to honor Capt. Kurt Carlsen for upholding the highest traditions of the sea.

He recalled first meeting King when the latter went to England as secretary to Sir Wilfrid Laurier when Churchill was secretary of state for the colonies.

"I made a life-long friendship with him and I shared my grief with all Canada, and indeed, the free world, at his death after so many years of faithful and skillful service to the great causes which we uphold today."

Official Board Holds Meeting

RAWDON
 The annual meeting of the Rawdon official board was held in Mount Pleasant United Church on Tuesday last with an attendance of 21 from the three appointments.

Following the absence of Mrs. Clifford Cramer, recording secretary, the work of this department was taken for the day by the new Moderator, who read the minutes of the October meeting of the 1951 annual meeting and other correspondence.

The first from Mr. Edgar D. Hawley, chairman of the committee on the minutes, contained two brochures with up-to-date statistics of the club.

Mr. B. C. Tucker gave a brief synopsis of his visit to the Rawdon club in 1951.

Several committee meetings have been held by the executive of Rawdon district, Mr. Howard and Mr. Tucker and his committee for their able representation.

The first was the newest of the discoveries of meteorology. They were detected through Second World War life-salvage bombing and now are crucial in the whole theory of flight at very high levels.

One of several jet streams flows over the Northern Hemisphere from a thousand to several thousand feet high. Like ribbon-shaped snakes, they stream across the globe at 100 to 300 miles per hour.

The United States air weather service, with headquarters at Andrews Field, Md., near Washington, issues daily forecasts of the position and strength of the jet streams and the force and current of other high altitude winds.

The upper winds now are considered so important because in this age of atomic warfare the carrier of the super weapon is a high-altitude bomber. All preparations for attack must be based on calculations of fast and bomb load.

now were wiped off the slate. The bill, which was for the financial statement was prepared by C. Tucker and accepted as read.

Minutes elected included: Howard, treasurer; Clifford Cramer, recording secretary; Otto Sharpe, representative to the president; Tucker, alternate representative; the percentage board was presented by the members as formerly.

The pastor thanked the board for their kind action in his behalf and said that with his increase in salary, he would be glad to contribute, but not himself. The pastor closed the meeting.

Television United to Puppetry Held Good Education Medium

By ADELAIDE KEE

New York (AP) — Television teamed with puppetry "can be a serious educational medium," said Bill Baird, one of the most famous purveyors of puppet shows in the United States.

Baird and his wife have brought their ideas to life in a children's puppet show with an educational slant, emphasizing the delights to be found in books. It is Saturday morning offering on Columbia network.

"We feel our puppets should be used for education," Baird said. "The program begins and ends with a book. One character is getting word conscious now and studying the dictionary."

As each program begins, Pantomime, with the big ears, opens a huge book and reads to Charles, the lion with the flowing mane. As he reads, the listener drifts into the Land of Beyond, where lives the Lovelace Lion.

who always uses his magic for good. Baird, 47, the boy who believes in gnomes and elves; Hootie, the owl, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles.

As the program moves rapidly through the week, the puppets tell the story of the week, but in full of other exciting books, well worth a look between time.

There are other instructional ideas woven into the story," says Baird. "For instance, when the wizard needs a book, he doesn't just sit there and wait for it to be brought. He goes and finds it."

The Bairds, who have produced several instructional movies for big industries. In the Whistling Lizard, their plans are further developed, include showing how mountains and rivers are created, why there are ocean currents and different colored waters in the sea; and interesting facts about fish, sea horses and crabs.

Although the program is only a few weeks old, its use of growing intellectual activity in children already has borne fruit. The Bairds' fan mail is full of such questions as "Why did the boat sink?" "How would the wizard breathe underwater?" "Why does a horse have a mane?" "Why does a horse have a mane?" "Why does a horse have a mane?"

When the children visit backstage after a show, they treat the puppets as though they were living characters with no dependency on their operators.

Weather Knowledge to Give North America Big Advantage If War With Russia Comes

By CLARENCE BEACH

(Associated Press Staff Writer)

As far as weather is concerned, Russia would have the edge if it came to war with North America — for the first day only.

But for the first day only, that's all. The Soviets would be at a great disadvantage thereafter.

This is true both in the old-fashioned military concept of weather, involving rain, clouds, winds and ice and from the new viewpoint, which rates military weather problems.

Weather moves from west to east — both surface weather and the pattern of the upper winds. North America's allies in the path of Russia's weather, but that is not in a position to know what weather is brewing for North America.

The international exchange of weather information, in which every country in the world is now participating, is a new development. These would promptly cease if war started, and the Russians would fight thereafter under the handicap of their geographical position.

If they were to unload atomic bombs on North America, they would have to make minute calculations as to the fuel load and the direction of the wind. If they came from the west, from the east, intercepting strong headwinds could set the gas load before the target was reached.

And if the air armada ran blind, by night, with no moon, no stars, it might be scattered or dropped dead.

It is easy from the west from the east, such as those on the Kamchatka Peninsula, northeast of Japan, it could ride the western winds, and particularly the jet streams, to save fuel. But Russia would have to know where the jet streams were that day and what the general wind conditions were like.

The jet stream is the newest of the discoveries of meteorology. They were detected through Second World War life-salvage bombing and now are crucial in the whole theory of flight at very high levels.

One of several jet streams flows over the Northern Hemisphere from a thousand to several thousand feet high. Like ribbon-shaped snakes, they stream across the globe at 100 to 300 miles per hour.

A Dessert for The Book

By Mary Moore

My beloved friend Barb is a top cook.

She was faced with a puzzle. One of the guests she had invited for Christmas Day, taking advantage of his ecclesiastical status, said he would not eat any heavy desserts.

As for Barb's concerned hostess, it was all at right in its place—this is Christmas dinner, is it not?

When Barb and I were discussing her dessert difficulties, I came up with the idea of serving "Nesselrode" (the Italian egg and berry fruit), or maybe French Cream.

Barb had then it came to her that she had the same last year. Nesselrode Pudding was the answer to everybody's wishes.

Barb made a pudding of a Nesselrode, she brought me a sample of it for her live it in the country. It was such a success, and so satisfying.

Barb had then it came to her that she had the same last year. Nesselrode Pudding was the answer to everybody's wishes.

CANNINGTON WALK.

The January meeting of the Cannington W.M.S. met at the home of Mrs. C. Matthews with the president, Mrs. J. Williams, presiding, who extended a welcome to the members and visitors.

Business meeting followed showing in the reports that the allocation of 1951 had been met. The Mission Band report was given by Mrs. Dwyer, showing $48 had been sent to the post-graduate treasurer.

The aims and objectives of the W.M.S., were read by Mrs. Furmidge and it was agreed to keep them in mind through the coming month.

Mrs. Holgate, Christian Brotherhood secretary, stated that the allocation for 1952 would be the same as last year and also the missionary for prayer, Miss Margaret Brown.

The worship service taken from Psalm 137 was in connection with the Study Book. The study book sold something about the French Canadian Protestants. Those taking part were: Mrs. A. Calvert, Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Phil, Mrs. D. Breton and Mrs. G. Breton.

Beryl W. Merrick was called upon by Mrs. Williams. In his talk he said that missions are at the crossroads not at the end of the road. This should be the beginning of bigger and better action around the world.

A reading on Christian Brotherhood was given by Mrs. Holgate. Mr. Merrick gave a short prayer for Canada. Mrs. Holgate's courage and bravery in trying to save his ship and his life for his safe return.

The ladies and her helpers then served refreshments. There were 14 members, five visitors, and four children present.

LIVED IN COAL BIN

Times On Jan. 17 (C) —A short, stocky immigrant, unable to speak English, was found in an outdoor coal bin Saturday by a Ximmins resident, who gave him the name as Alois, told an interpreter he had been living in the bin for four days while temperatures dropped below zero.

Alois, placed under the care of the Salvation Army, was without funds, food and home.

Junior Farmers, Institute Members Enjoy Successful Year, Given Trophies, Awards

Hastings County Junior Farmers and Junior Institute members wound up the most successful year in the history of the work in the county Wednesday night when the winners of trophies and awards won during the year were presented.

The occasion was the annual Hastings county presentation night, when over 300 Junior Farmers and Junior Institute members crowded into the community hall to enjoy the evening of entertainment and to see awards presented to the top ranking Juniors of the year.

County Representative A. O. Dalrymple said that 1951 had seen more county boys and girls enter Junior work than ever before. Over 100 boys took part in club work while the girls carried out projects under the direction of home economists, Miss Irvine.

More clubs participated. And even more Juniors will be club members this year with prospects of three and possibly four additional clubs to be organized. Mr. Dalrymple asked that owing to the intensive year be spent only Juniors participate who intend to complete projects.

Top boy and girl of the year in the county were Marie Moore of Springbrook and Miss Lois Little, Hawkeston. Marie was a member of the county grain club which last autumn took provincial and dominion honors in grain judging. Lois was top girl in girls' home-making club projects.

An outstanding boy for the year, Merle was presented with a handsome wire watch by the Bank of Commerce, while Lois received a silver tray from the same banking firm.

Harry Berry Awarded
The grain club trophy donated by Chas. F. Davidson of Stirling went to Frank Harry, R.R. 6, Toronto, while the calf club trophy donated by the Hastings County Holsteins Club went to Gerald Harry.

The Tractor Club trophy for proficiency in handling tractors and in diagnosing tractor faults went to Francis Wighamman of Stirling. The trophy is presented by the Ontario Rural Farm Equipment Dealers.

The Forestry Club Warden's trophy by Hastings County Council went to Ross Macdonald of St. Catharines. This trophy was presented by Warden Joe Griffin, and was the Pottery Club Warden's trophy which went to Andrew Hickley of Maple Lake.

The Stirling Club trophy to Zelen Pechal went to James

Bumper Crop of Rumors Say Chinese Communists Planning To Invade Indo-China Soon

Saligon, Indo-China, Jan. 11. (AP)—There's a constant bumper crop of rumors and reports flying about in Indo-China that the Chinese communists are planning to invade, but hardly anyone in this country seems worried.

French and foreign intelligence officers freely confirm a steady build-up of red China forces along the Indo-China border but none of them say an invasion is imminent.

Mr. T. Stothers, Toronto, agricultural representative for the Canadian Bank of Commerce spoke briefly, while Mr. K. Pake, bank manager at Belleville presented the awards to the top boy and girl. Carl E. Bestman, county club leader presiding, presented the Junior Farmers' club award to two winners.

Bryden Davis, a former county junior, showed colored slides taken during a trip to Nigeria where he served for several months with the British Colonial Service. He told how the British government was developing the colony by filling thousands of acres of land for the growing of rice, peanuts and other crops.

Toronto, Jan. 17 — (CP) — Elias Clouse, Canada's oldest practicing physician, yesterday celebrated his 96th birthday. Born in Pleasant Hill, Norfolk County, he attributes part of his record to the fact that he neither drinks nor smokes, and he adds "don't hurry and don't worry" to the prescription to young people.

might be imminent. Including, they say there is "nothing to indicate" the Chinese communists are going to move in soon to help the hard-pressed "unlucky" Vietnams, who have been battling the French and Vietnamese for the last five years.

These same sources, however, consider the picture could suddenly undergo a radical change as the conflict in Korea is "invaded" "data" for Indo-China have ranged all the way from optimism in January to the way of 1952. Meanwhile, French army spokesmen say, the Chinese communists have been "increasing their war material aid to the forces of Ho Chi Minh."

Heavy infiltration There also has been a heavy infiltration into main Vietnams of communist Chinese advisers, who there has been no evidence of any Chinese communist troops fighting alongside the Vietnams "volunteers" or "regulars."

The corps of advisers is credited with having much to do with the better organization and co-ordination reflected in recent Vietnams attacks against the French and Viet-Namense west and east of Hanoi.

The Vietnams seem to be going strong for the Russia-style tactic of infiltrating in small groups then regrouping and attacking from the rear. The attacks have been characterized by dogged determination despite heavy losses.

There has been repeated confirmation of reports that despite the material aid pouring in from red China that too Vietnams are short of foodstuffs, clothing, blankets and medicines. For the present all of this area and the big 500 or 600-mile perimeter around Hanoi is firmly in French hands.

Concentrations of Chinese communist troops along the Indo-China frontier have ranged all the way an estimated 150,000 to 200,000. Reports of bombing and fighter planes massed on airfields in southern China have run as high as 3,000.

HUGE DEPOSITS
Limestone deposits in the Peninsular Range in England are from short of foodstuffs, clothing, 2,000 to 4,000 feet thick.

Provinces Asked Not to Revive Five-Per-Cent Tax Collected On Corporation Profits in Dec.

Ottawa, Jan. 17 (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott has asked provinces conducting tax agreements with the federal government not to revive a five-per-cent tax collected on corporation profits dropped last month.

Mr. Abbott, attending a conference in the United Kingdom sent his request to all provinces Jan. 10, along with an offer to boost payments under new federal provincial tax agreements. His letter was made public Thursday by his department.

Legislation providing for a five-per-cent corporation tax in provinces with taxation agreements expired in December. All provinces except Ontario and Quebec now have taxation agreements with the federal government.

The agreements are due to expire next March 31. Since last month the total tax on corporations has dropped to 43 per cent from 48 per cent in all provinces except Ontario and Quebec. In those two provinces the tax dropped to 43 per cent from 48, because they collected a seven-per-cent tax on corporate profits while provinces with agreements collected only five per cent.

A finance department official said that should the provinces agree not to revive their five-per-cent tax, Mr. Abbott would be free to increase the federal corporation taxes by five per cent in January.

Mr. Abbott indicated in his letter to the provinces that he does not propose to join the provincial five-per-cent tax to the federal tax.

He said taxpayers in provinces which do not sign agreements will be given a five-per-cent credit on the corporation taxes they pay to the provinces.

No Loss of Revenue
The official explained that dropping the tax will not cost any loss of revenue to provinces with agreements. The payments received under the agreements were reduced by the amount they collected in corporation taxes.

Under the new financial offer, the eight provinces with agreements would get a total of $171,961,000 compared with $137,215,000 under the existing agreements.

If all provinces sign agreements, the payments will total $423,212,000. If all provinces had signed existing agreements, the payments would total $205,700,000 this year.

"With Ontario and Quebec included to give the overall tax a positive picture, this is what the provinces would receive in the first year of the new agreement with figures for this, the final

414,949 Casualties Suffered by U.N. And South Korea

Paris, Jan. 17 (AP)—Total casualties of United Nations and South Korean forces in the Korean war have reached 414,949, an Associated Press survey showed Wednesday.

U.N. delegations and governments were sources for the information.

Receive Annual Payments
Under the agreement, provinces give the federal government almost exclusive use of the personal income, corporate and inheritance tax fields. In return, the provinces receive annual payments based on population and on the value of gross national production within the province.

At present, payments are adjusted annually on the basis of the preceding three-year average of population and gross national production. At a federal-provincial conference in December, 1950, several provinces complained that the average prevented a quick reflection in payments of increases in population, prices and production.

Under the new agreements, also for a period of five years, provinces would have the option of having payments adjusted on the basis of one-year or three-year averages of population. They will have to file in the next month a financial adjustment they wish.

BETTER UNDERSTANDING LIBELY

Better understanding of Britain's foreign policies on the part of the United States and closer co-operation between the two countries in their efforts to deal with world problems, are certain, certain to follow Mr. Winston Churchill's speech in Washington last Thursday.

More than ten years ago, when the United States in due to come, the British dominions, the United States would be drawn closer together, not only in their own interests but for their own safety, but for that occasion around a good deal of controversy and more than a little criticism amongst the uninformed in the United States.

Several years later, in the speech which he made at Fulton, Missouri, Mr. Churchill revived the same theme and predicted that the world to progress and peace was through "a fraternal association" between the nations comprising the English-speaking world.

In his Washington speech last Thursday, Mr. Churchill was able to say without contradiction, that the close co-operation between the English-speaking peoples which had been advocated and hoped for had, to a large extent, been achieved.

But in his most recent speech, Mr. Churchill went further than to urge a close unity of action among the free countries everywhere to share their duty, point their strength and recognize the identity of their objectives.

It is one of the most important matters with which Mr. Churchill dealt was the policy of his government in asking for no more donations of American money. When the United States was supplied with the materials as steel, such supplies, said Mr. Churchill, could not be any more considered as a crutch or a handout.

The reaction of the British press to Mr. Churchill's speech on the subject of the Atlantic Charter, but he was sharply criticized by two important publications—the Daily Express and the Pinkston Daily Herald.

It is well known that during the last decade, the government in power in Ontario has greatly increased the grants which it makes toward helping municipal taxpayers pay for education and health services.

Cobalt Bomb Is Seen as a Possible Cure for Certain Types of Cancer

A new cancer treatment, developed from Canada's atomic pile at Chalk River, Ont., has increased the rate of cure in certain types of cancer, according to Dr. I. A. Smith, director of clinic at London, Ont. Since installation of new weapon — Cobalt 60-beam therapy unit — last October in London hospital, Dr. Smith reported to the annual meeting of the Canadian Association of Radiologists, now underway in Winnipeg, that Cobalt 60 has proved to be more effective in the treatment of deep-seated cancers than radium, because of the far greater penetration of its radio-active rays. In describing the therapy, developed by Canadian scientists, as a "new weapon, tremendously expanding previous methods of treating cancer," Dr. Smith, even before examining new weapon, went on to say that "on a physical basis, we are satisfied it will increase the cure rate — at least on deep-seated cancers. But it will take at least five years to know whether it is going to increase the general cure rate." — Central Press Canadian.

Drug Store Still in Business While Moving

Toronto (CP) — Customers who want to visit Williams Wood's drug store first have to find it, then climb a 12-foot wooden staircase to get in. The drug store and three apartments above it—450 tons of building in all—are being moved 240 feet across front lawn to make way for a new traffic artery. Old customers and a telephone business keep the mobile drug store in business. The telephone cable is a long line which feeds out as the building moves. Electricity is supplied by a similar system. The furnace in the house has long been disconnected but the store is heated by two small heat-stores.

Ghost Town

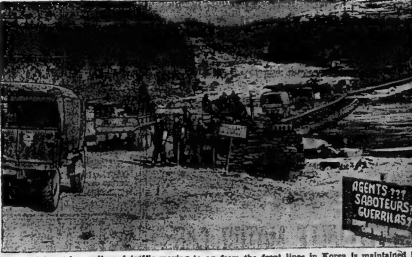

Stone ruins of a once-thriving centre near the southwestern Ontario hamlet of Salem near Kitchener now are a popular tourist attraction. They once housed hawtens, mills, a tannery, shoe factory and other buildings in a village founded in 1848. The village was a busy centre for 20 years but then gradually began to die. The nearby hamlet of Salem (part of which is shown in the background) has a population of 100. — (CP Photo.)

Young Man Takes U.N. Affairs Seriously

A six-year-old Mexican boy, Adrian, is developing an early interest in the U.N. The report his father, Dr. Luis Padilla Nervo is the present assembly president and the boy thinks it is high time to get acquainted with his father's work. So, as one of the youngest — and keenest — visitors to the U.N., little Adrian came to see and hear for himself how the U.N. works. After a warm welcome in the president's office, left, the boy sat through a meeting, listening to his father's speech, right. He was fascinated by the simultaneous interpretation which translated the president's remarks into other languages. — Central Press Canadian.

America's Business Men's Association, for every dollar received as revenue from the liquor traffic, it costs 89 1-3 cents to cover the money expense from the results of the traffic. A report tabled in the Ontario Legislature covering the first three months of 1948 showed that at that time nearly two-thirds of prisoners in reform institutions were "incomplete drinkers". ## Nuclear-Powered Submarine Will Be Constructed

Washington, Jan. 22 — (CP)—A bill to authorize construction of the U. S. Navy's second nuclear-powered submarine was introduced today by Chairman Carl Vinson of the House of Representatives Armed Services Committee.

The measure also includes authorization to build a second attack aircraft carrier — up to 8,000 tons — capable of berthing atom bomb-carrying aircraft. The bill would authorize construction and renovation costing approximately $1,500,000,000.

Vinson, Georgia Democrat, in introducing the bill, said it would permit construction of 27,000 tons of combat vessels. This includes two aircraft carriers (one up to 8,000 tons), four destroyers, four submarines, thirty minesweepers, three destroyer escorts, two refrigerated cargo ships, two tankers and twenty-three landing ships.

Also proposed are 450 landing rafts and 25 service craft of all types, he said.

The measure also sets up a conversion program for 80,000 tons of combat vessels — two aircraft carriers of the Kears class, two light cruisers and six destroyer escorts.

Military Pressure Could Bring Stable Armistice

Washington, Jan. 22 (AP). — Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy, Chief United Nations peace negotiator in Korea, said today that military pressure could bring a stable armistice out of stalled truce talks at Panmunjom.

In a copyrighted interview in "U.S. News & World Report," a weekly news magazine, Turner was asked what he thought would bring "action."

"If by action you mean a stable armistice agreement," he replied, "I would say one of two things: either a sudden voluntary change of heart on the part of the communists, or the application of sufficient military power to induce such a change of heart."

"Patience and unrelenting military pressure," he said, "are the only means by which a stable armistice can be achieved."

Wants Agnes Appointed

Owen Sound, Jan. 22 (CP). — Grey County council would appoint Agnes Macphail to the Senate of Canada, a resolution passed last night after the close of the January session, the council agreed on.

Trine Minister St. Laurent to consider Miss Macphail when new appointments to fill Senate vacancies.

Miss Macphail is a native of South Grey. She was the first woman member of the House of Commons, being elected in Grey-Brown in 1918.

Except for two years after 1945 when she was ill and the years between 1940 and 1943, the fiery-tongued woman politician never out of politics after 1921 when she was elected to the House of Commons as the United Farmers of Ontario member for Grey East.

She sat for 19 years in the federal house until 1946 when she was defeated in the general election. Out of a job, she tried her hand at various occupations until 1942 when she was elected to the Ontario legislature for a term that lasted until 1945.

In 1948 she won the York East seat for the C.C.F., which she held until the provincial election last Nov. 21, when she was defeated by J. E. Bennett, a Progressive Conservative.

Police Seek Pyromaniac

Montreal, Jan. 22 — (CP)—Police today were on the lookout for a pyromaniac believed to have set at least seven fires here in the last six weeks.

Lieut. Joseph Laroche, chief of the arson squad, said his men had been trying to trace the firebug for some time.

He said investigation has progressed to the point where one man was being kept under close observation.

"In every case, the fire starts in the stairways at the rear of private homes," said Lieut. Laroche.

Backache

If you have backache or rheumatism, or if you are suffering from any of the many ailments that cause backache, you should consult a doctor at once. Backache is a serious condition and should not be taken lightly.

Complete range of wheelbases and carrying capacities

The Chevrolet truck line for '52 offers you a wider choice of wheelbases, ranging right up to 212". Carrying capacities have also been increased to 17,500 lbs. with the 1700 Heavy Duty series. And all this extra payload and carrying capacity is yours at amazingly low cost. No other truck line gives you so much for so little.

Axle capacities for every job

The right axle for any type-hauling job — still another reason why the Chevrolet truck lets you carry more payload without overloading. Chevrolet truck axles are designed to absorb the shocks and jolts caused by rough roads and heavy loads. What's more, they deliver greater pulling power with less engine effort throughout the entire speed range. And there's now a heavier two-speed rear axle available for the Heavy Duty model.

4 great power plants to choose from

To the three already famous Chevrolet valve-in-head truck engines, a brand-new fourth power plant has been added! It's a massive, heavy-duty 120-h.p. engine designed to deliver outstanding performance under the toughest working conditions. Whether you choose the 92-h.p. Thriftmaster, the 105 h.p. Loadmaster, the 114 h.p. Torquemaster or the 120-h.p. engine, you can be sure of greater dependability and greater power-per-gallon from a Chevrolet valve-in-head truck engine.

Handy Men of Canada's Law Enforcement Are Mounties

Ottawa, Jan. 22 (CP)—Royal Canadian Mounted Police, acting as a force of constabulary, help crack up information bureau-curriculum system.

An RCMP officer plows through drift on snow a distressed old on Atlantic. Mountie goes hunt down lawbreaker. Joe's lawbreaker.

There is a few of the mounted activities of the RCMP, Canadian police force, as it is held in its report for the year ending March 31, 1952. They are the RCMP, operating from coast to coast in the Arctic and in the mountains of Canada's vast wilderness.

The truth of the report is that the RCMP is a force of constabulary, patrolling the frontiers, matching with the ruggedness of goods and money, treating the public in good faith, helping out in distress.

With even more than the customary services, the report gives more than the merest police work. The RCMP is a force of constabulary, patrolling the frontiers, matching with the ruggedness of goods and money, treating the public in good faith, helping out in distress.

Upward Move In Traffic Grid Laid to Liquor

London, Jan. 22 (CP)—Drunk drivers are causing lot of British traffic jams, police say, according to a report by the Metropolitan Police.

The report, published in the current issue of the British Journal of Psychology, says that since May 1948, about 79 per cent of all arrests in connection with road accidents have been the house of 8 p.m. and 8 a.m.

An "extraordinary" large percentage of these, it is said, occur shortly after public house closing.

Mr. Nikolls also reports that in 1948, about 300 cases of traffic violations showed many drivers had consumed alcohol. It is said that about half of the drivers were nearly half of the drivers.

Professor Sydney Smith, of Edinburgh University, however, doubts that pub-closing hours are responsible for the rise in traffic jams.

Uncle Jim Firky Declares Wild West Never So Wild As Depicted by Hollywood

Hamilton, Jan. 22 (CP)—The wild of Humboldt, his halfway mark, and woolly west was never as wild and woolly as it is pictured in the movies, says Jim Firky, one of the last surviving Canadian Pony Express riders.

At 82, Uncle Jim, as he is affectionately known in his neighborhood, likes to recall the many years he spent out west as he met up with an army scout. The scout warned him about the rebels and they both turned around and headed back for Humboldt.

They had gone only a little way when four rebels appeared from nowhere and took after them. "We whipped up our horses and stowed plucky away, but I can still see those bullets kicking up the dust around us," says Firky.

During the ride, Firky says the army scout, the mail man, and Humboldt, were after Firky took it that far.

Before riding for the Pony Express, Firky worked on the express run between Qu'Appelle and Fort Qu'Appelle, a distance of 21 miles. He was on that run two years before he left for the Pony Express.

Most of the time the trip was uneventful, he says. There was a change of horses every 30 miles and no particular trouble with the Indians. However, things were different during the Rebel war.

On one occasion he had reached the store with the money in a brown paper bag and was forced into his own automobile by the two men. They drove a few blocks then escaped with the money.

Police said the men's descriptions were "slightly blurred," the other "slightly blurred." It did not tally with that of two men who Monday held up manager of another supermarket with $7,500. The manager also was in route to a bank with $7,500.

British Plan To Launch Blitz On Influenza

London, (CP)—Assistance of family physicians throughout the United Kingdom is being enlisted by the ministry of health in a concerted effort against the scourge of influenza.

In an effort to find out more about the disease which annually exacts a heavy toll of life, the ministry has asked doctors in general practice to act as "spotters" by promptly reporting any abnormal outbreak of influenza.

The patients afflicted will then be examined by specialists in an attempt to identify the virus that is active.

Ministry spokesmen said the virus was not being made because of any fear that an epidemic was imminent. It was merely part of a plan to build up and improve the information service.

"We are also profiling by the experience of last winter," he added. "Then two cases, Newcastle and Liverpool, were severe. It is not through lack of an accurate spotting system we are ever able to confirm the actual strain of the virus or check how far it spread to other parts of the country."

In co-operation with the Medical Research Council, a new vaccine, grown in eggs, is to be tried out experimentally this winter. The object is to ascertain whether the injection of this vaccine causes any strengthening of

If the farmer went on a 40-hour week, instead of the 60 or 70 hours he currently puts in, he'd have to boost the price of his product from one-fifth to one-third higher in order to get the same return.

Still Grimmer Times Ahead, British Public Informed By Parliamentary Spokesmen

By ALAN HARVEY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Jan. 23 (CP)—British public enters a new phase next week with the assembly of the House of Commons, and the things will be as grim as they were under a Labor government.

During six years of socialism, and during the last year of an economy hardening from one emergency to another. The people were accustomed to periodic warnings of tough times ahead. Now the warnings are more powerful, and they sound just like the socialist, only more so.

"Horrifying Things"

One Tory member of parliament warned of "horrifying things to come." Peter Thorneycroft, president of the Board of Trade, said that in the new crisis there will be no "horrifying things" to come. He said that the new crisis will be a "horrifying thing" to come. He said that the new crisis will be a "horrifying thing" to come.

The word is out that this time the government is really intent on stern measures. Conservatives claim the socialists led to be half-hearted about retrenchment. The present government is said to be determined not to make the same mistake.

Other statements the House of Commons is likely to hear next week include an account by Prime Minister Churchill of his visit to Canada and the United States, a warning on control of masters by Sir Walter Monks, minister of labor, and further information on housing from Harold Macmillan, minister of housing and local government.

Transit Period

The session which opens Tuesday night is expected to be dominated by the transition in the country's political life. The House of Commons will follow the last October's general election was not short to mention any date of alignment of parties.

Now the Conservatives will be expected to disclose their policies in detail, and the socialists to display a clearer pattern of opposition. It will have shown to be already there are signs that labor is finding its voice.

C. H. Bursard Installs Masonic Officers

Iron Age Sees Steel Restrictions Being Eased

New York, Jan. 24 (AP)—Continued restrictions on use of straight chrome steel and carbon tool steel are expected to be eased next week by the American Iron and Steel Institute, which reported trade weekly said yesterday.

The decision is expected to be reached this week on whether to lift controls on these products completely, or just relax them on the publication said, although it may be three weeks or so before the decision is announced.

It said the decision will be based on market factors which have been evident for some time. "Surging steel production and restrictions on use are narrowing the gap between supply and demand," The Iron Age reported.

Recently there has been a marked easing in several items. The maker is that no one can be sure how much of this easing is due to government restrictions next.

The trade weekly said stainless producers have been actively seeking strictly chrome orders, and that mills are advising customers to switch from stainless grades to chrome steels wherever possible.

Steel making operations this week were placed at 90.3 per cent of rated capacity.

C. H. Bursard; treasurer, F. R. Feller; S.D. B. McKenzie; J.D. H. Gordon; P. R. Lovelace; S.D. D. McIntyre; J.S. J. Althouse; J. C. G. B. Whittemore; grandmaster, A. W. Drew.

Wor. Bro. C. R. Whittemore and W. B. Shannon were appointed auditors.

Owing to the "snowstorm" on Tuesday evening, insufficient numbers of Marmora Agricultural Society turned out at the house to make a successful annual meeting possible.

After conferring with those present, President John McVoy decided to adjourn the meeting on the 29th as the best date for holding the postponed meeting.

Reds Present Their Evidence

Chinese communists have charged the United Nations with a new violation of the neutral area set aside for the truce conference. The Reds claim that Allied aircraft strafed one of the convoys supplying the communist delegation, wounding two members of their staff and damaging two trucks and one jeep. Allied officials said the incident is being investigated. Accompanying photo, released by Wilfrid Burdett, correspondent for a French publication, allegedly shows the wounded truck driver, Fong Chin, a Chinese communist seaman, and a North Korean officer. — Central Press Canadian.

Hanna, Small Alberta Town, Subject of Sociological Study; People There File Objections

Calgary (CP) — A Toronto woman's book touching upon the lives of the people of Hanna, Alta., has stirred lively comment in Alberta.

"Next Year Country," by Dr. Jess Burnett, the third of a series, is devoted to an examination of the background and development of the Social Credit movement in Alberta.

However, the book, published by University of Toronto Press, deals only indirectly with the growth of the Social Credit League, the political group which has governed Alberta for the last 18 years.

Instead, it uses the "regional study" technique to sketch the social and economic environment in which Social Credit grew up.

The series, financed by a Rockefeller Foundation grant and sponsored by the Canadian Social Science Research Council, has with a study of the growth of the Progressive party and its significance as a symptom of the world's disposition to distrust the old-line wholesale and thousands of families went on relief.

The area had been settled rapidly, with farmers concentrating almost exclusively on wheat growing. They borrowed heavily, used expensive machinery, and bought food instead of raising it themselves. This economy crumbled under the impact of drought and low grain prices in the 1930's.

Miss Burnett is sharply critical of some aspects of Hanna life, and it is these observations that have brought comment in newspapers, correspondence columns and in editorials. Here are some:

"There are many cases of sex irregularities within the family group... adulterous relationships of enough to seem frequent in occurrence."

"Safe Birth."

"The ability of the professional men is open to question... some are in Hanna because they feel they cannot measure up... to urban competition. They cling to Hanna as a 'safe berth,' contributing less and less to its life."

"In Hanna, little notice is taken of a newcomer for at least a week. Little effort is made to enlist new arrivals in town activities."

"Since the 20's, the German Russians have been socially isolated... the English farmers explain the segregation... by saying the later immigrants were a 'poorer type' than the pioneers. This is doubtful... the English are disturbed at being in the minority."

Coming to Hanna's defense, G. M. More of Drumheller, Alta., resident of Hanna for nearly 20 years, labelled the criticisms "misleading but a lot of imaginative tripe."

"Sex irregularities were much more numerous in towns he had lived in since leaving Hanna."

Alkenhead Disagree

J. D. Alkenhead, of Calgary, superintendent of schools for the Hanna area, said he had noted Hanna's professional men of high calibre and its warm hospitality was well known.

Rev. Reginald N. Wright, vice of All Saints Anglican Church, Hanna, said a sociologist "could write something nasty about any town if she wanted to build up on all the gossip that she listened to."

Hanna, like any other community, had a problem in its divergent groups and would have been proud of it if it succeeded in conquering it.

The High River Weekly Times suggested someone from Alberta go to Toronto to study manners and habits of the "professional element there."

It wondered "what small town is going to be the next target for study by an expert."

The Drumheller Mail thought Mr. Burnett had spent the greatest part of her time "listening intently" for the tales of scandal mongers.

STILL ACTIVE

Tolland, Conn., Jan. 23—(AP)—For Mrs. Alice Steele today observed her 92nd birthday, still active as a newspaper correspondent. For more than 30 years she has reported the doings of this small northeastern Connecticut community to the Manchester Herald, a daily, and the Rockville Leader, a weekly, in once-a-week hand-written letters.

VINCENT MASSEY

The new governor-general, known as an ardent Canadian, is a devoted father and a man of high academic attainments. He is bilingual and speaks French as well as English.

Crosses Controversy

His appointment may create controversy—not about the man chosen, but about the government's decision to break with tradition and select a native son as the King's personal representative.

There already has been comment—even before the step was officially announced—with some suggesting the move would bring politics into the viceregal office and others asserting the decision was a proper one.

The appointment leaves Cayton as the only commonwealth country whose governor-general is a Briton.

Mr. Massey is a tall, spare, distinguished-looking man who is known for his diplomacy and his impeccable sense. His brother is Raymond Massey, the Hollywood actor and Broadway actor.

Born in Toronto

He was born in Toronto Feb. 20, 1887, of an American mother and a Canadian father and studied at the University of Toronto and at Oxford, specializing in Modern History.

From 1913 to 1916, he lectured on that subject at the University of Toronto.

In 1916, he served as associate secretary to the War Cabinet and as director of the government's reputation committee and, a year later, went into business as secretary and director of Massey-Harris Company, the big farm implement firm which his grandfather had founded.

By 1921, at the age of 34, he was president of the company, a job he gave up in 1925 to enter the Mackenzie King Cabinet as minister without portfolio. His Cabinet appointment lasted a month because he was defeated a few weeks later in the general election of that year.

He was appointed first Canadian minister to Washington in 1926 and served there until 1930. He returned to private life, but went back to government service in 1933 as Canadian High Commissioner to London, holding that post until 1940.

He became chancellor of the University of Toronto in 1947. Mr. Massey is a widower, his wife having died in 1950. He has two sons, Lionel and Hart.

Lord Alexander Thinks Sons May Become Canadians

Ottawa, Jan. 25 (CP)—It wouldn't surprise Vincent Massey if both his sons eventually become Canadians.

He said so yesterday as he basked on his ski for one of the last of many outings in the Gatineau hills north of this capital.

A reporter caught briefly with the retiring governor-general in the below-zero weather at the foot of steep, fast beamsch hills where he has come to ski after day for some winters.

The 65-year-old field marshal looked up as he worked with his hands to say it was "just that his family is leaving Canada. But in my job," he said, "it is not that of British descent minister."

And both his sons, Stuart, 16, and Brian, 12, have decided they want to go to Montreal's McGill University, he said, when the time comes for college.

That being so, he suggested it wouldn't be surprising if they settled down in Canada because college graduates often accepted jobs in the country where they graduate. It would be a normal act of development.

Vincent Massey's 16-year-old daughter, Rose, already is at McGill and is expected to stay there when the family leaves Canada shortly.

Aside Secretary Office

The family's interest in that particular university stems from two things, he explained later after coming down the slope with an ability a much younger man might envy.

One is that he himself is McGill's "official visitor," so client-honorary officer, and the other is that McGill is close to look a nap.

As he finished off one descent and started back up for another yesterday, he said: "I come here every afternoon, work on my skiing and when I haven't got an engagement."

"And," he added with a smile, "I try to see that there are not too many engagements to interfere."

Two Thousand Greet Quints And Quadruplets

Two thousand people gathered at the railway station here yesterday to watch the Dionne Quintuplets meet the Hargreaves quadruplets, but only about 30 of them saw much of the nine pretty girls.

A tight group of civic officials, Junior Chamber of Commerce members, and policemen surrounded the girls so closely that no one else could see much.

Despite this, a cheer went up when the quintas climbed off and on their special railway car. They were travelling to St. Paul, Minn., to appear in that city's winter carnival.

Only two policemen were on duty at the station as the train drew in and a rum call was sent for reinforcements.

Angry bystanders tore down a welcome banner above the station platform.

Mrs. Olive Dionne received a bouquet of flowers from civic officials, and in return presented Mrs. Ouse Hargreaves with a similar bouquet.

The 17-year-old quintas smiled as the quads were presented to them. The two-year-old quads stared back. Some of them smiled. If they spoke, no one heard them. It was a mystery, the quads still speak a language all their own.

HARDY BUTTERFLY

Papers Warmly Praise Massey in Editorials

London, Jan. 25 (CP)—The British press today featured the appointment of Vincent Massey as Canada's first native-born governor-general.

The Bankers' Magazine and The Economist both lauded the appointment with banner headlines.

The papers warmly praised Massey in their editorial columns. The generalist Independent Times said that the Canadian "most distinguished and able" of the best men for the post.

The Times said Massey was known as member of the royal family was few in number.

"To the people of this country no diplomatist is better known and respected than the man who represented Canada as high commissioner in London for 10 long and troubled years."

It may be safely said no one could be more acceptable to the British as a representative than a man who has long been known as a friend and confidant of the Royal Family, the Queen.

The Independent Conservative also praised Massey as an editorial head of the "Canadian choice."

First Time in History Native Son Will Have All King's Powers in This Country

Ottawa, Jan. 25 (CP)—The first time in history, a native son of Canada will soon have the right to exercise all of the King's powers in this country.

He will do that, of course, only on the advice and consent of the Canadian cabinet.

The Canadian is Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, whose appointment as Canada's first native governor-general was announced yesterday.

His British-born predecessor did not have the full right when he came to Canada in 1946. He acted it through a revision in 1947 of royal documents relating to the vice-royal office. That revision stripped the monarch of the right to exercise all of the King's powers in this country.

Through largely constitutional fiction, anachronisms in this position that prevailed since the 1911 Statute of Westminster made Canada's autonomous status in the British Commonwealth.

The chief anachronism was the necessity for Canada to get royal assent to laws passed by the parliament which required such approval.

The revision-known legally as "letters patent"-authorized the governor-general to exercise, on the advice of the Canadian government, all the King's powers in this country.

To increase their output by one-third in the next 25 years to take care of the expected increase in population.

"Food is a major weapon," he said, "and the great need is to put victory in the hands of the victor."

A Puerto Rico hurricane in 1928 rattled wind velocity of 100 miles an hour before the measuring device collapsed.

Movie Column

Hollywood, Jan. 25. (AP)—Linda Christian is working in a movie for the first time since she became Mrs. Tyrone Power. Her return to films carries the blessing of her famous husband.

At rehearsal for her role in "The Happy Time" she was working with Charles Boyer, Louis Jordan, Marla Hunt and Bobby Driscoll.

Between rehearsals, the pool-pooled reporter said she had taken up her career in movie Power.

"That is nonsense," she said. "I had no career to give up."

Your Individual Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Saturday, January 26, 1952
 March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Personal, intellectual, art, protection. Affairs prosper. Be wary against radical changes, especially in love. Be sure first before taking on Greek values always.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)
 Some stimulating rays, especially for tasks close to home, family, daily obligations. Activities requiring physical endurance and skill will need watching, but can produce fine gains.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)
 Some irritating influences indicated by Mercury's position advise against indulging personal whims, impatience. Let others stem your kingly cheerful, helpful. Avoid useless litigation.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)
 Auspices day for your interests. First try attending family duties, children. Go ahead steadily with business of day. Good news, pleasant happenings along with some annoyances.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)
 Excellent day for general desire, certain military matters, sound financial investments, helpful contracts, necessary work rates high. Don't neglect the unfortunate and the young.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)
 Not going to be easy for some slight pressure, but good advantage is exact for you who will not become irritated. Proceed in general manner, co-ordinating where you can with a smile.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)
 Start vigorous strategy, then personal and business matters. Fine stimulus for the purely mental task, artistic leaning.

SMALL RPT DANGEROUS
The trichina, whose scientific name is Trichina spiralis, is an unpleasant little beast. It is so small that it can be seen only with a microscope, but it is so deadly that it will cause all sorts of trouble — severe pain, fever, and worse. Its activities often cause medical men to think the victims are suffering from cholera or typhoid.

Three at Fruitland Trapped In Two Upstairs Rooms

Fruitland, Ont., Jan. 28 (CP)—Three children of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Sykes died yesterday in their flaming home and today neighbors in this Hamilton district community brought a steady flow of assistance to the stricken family.

The parents and their youngest son, a three-year-old Canadian, escaped through a downstairs bedroom window. But Donald, 13, Arthur, 11, and Leonard, 11, were trapped in their bedrooms upstairs. The last-moving flames cut off a staircase.

Firemen recovered the bodies after the embers cooled. Fire inspectors are still at the scene and did not determine the cause of the outbreak.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

There are disadvantages with every choice of life.

When a woman is confronted with the necessity of choosing between two alternatives, it is important that she keep in mind that in the course of her choice, there will inevitably be disadvantages with either. She must not put up with the inevitable right at the beginning, (as she must not make it easier to choose, but should work frustration and regret later on).

One young wife of 17 has been in a state of mind where she has made a choice of alternative to her mother's husband. She has chosen to live with her mother's husband, as she has been told to do by her mother, who returns to her own mother, who is not with her.

Her mother-in-law leaves alone, the girl writes, "but if we were to live with her, we would not only my mother, but my sisters would be with her. I would be all the time, as they always were before I was married. Mother would be very near to me, and make a morning I went to work without having first to get away from her nagging. I was always unhappy at home and have been happy ever since I left there."

Between Two Fires. The immediate problem now is that with her husband going away, her mother laments that she is alone. She says that if she could stay with her mother, she would be happy. She says that if she could stay with her mother, she would be happy.

"My husband tells me to stay right here when I am contented," the letter continues. "He says, 'If you stay here, I will be with you all the time.' He says that if he could stay with her mother, she would be happy. He says that if he could stay with her mother, she would be happy."

"What do you think I should do? I don't want to go back there, but she is still my mother. It seems to me I would be better off if I could live with her. It seems to me I would be better off if I could live with her. It seems to me I would be better off if I could live with her."

Elaborate alternative—to remain where she is or to return to her mother—will have its disadvantages. If she stays with her mother, she will have to live with her mother's husband, who is not with her.

GOOD MANNERS

MRS. CORNELIUS BECKMAN

Writing notes of birth-announcements is an excellent task.

Dear Mrs. Beckman: I am expecting my first baby in about 10 weeks. I would like to send out birth announcements.

After some shopping around I found that the standard type of birth announcements were very expensive, and I was certainly discouraged. Knowing that the filled-in announcements are incorrect, I thought perhaps I would write notes on my "Mr. and Mrs. Akins" card, and after the arrival of the baby, a plate must be made with the baby's name and birth date, the small cards made from this plate to be attached with narrow white ribbon to the larger cards.

In excellent taste is your idea of writing notes. . . . on white non-ink paper. . . . or some relatives and friends who have not been told the news verbally by you or by telegram. This is a gracious thing to do, the person who is invited to the party will be most personally interested in the news of the birth of the new baby.

For example, to some you might write: Dear Dorothy and Bill, Alan Thomas Roberts, Junior, arrived on April 14th. We are well and flourishing. . . . and so on.

Happy news to tell you and your baby. The new member of the Roberts family has arrived! His name is Alan Thomas Roberts, Junior. . . . and he is a fine, sturdy young fellow who acquaintances we hope will, very soon. We are all well, and very happy.

How please tell me if the godparents receive gifts from the child's parents, and if so, what type of gifts. . . . The godparents do not receive gifts. Quite the reverse. Customarily the godparents—godmother or godfather—give christening gifts to the godchild.

Englishmen Said Becoming Style-Conscious

London, Jan. 28 (AP) — The Englishman is slowly waking up to the fact that as far as clothes are concerned he's pretty doped.

And as usual—the woman who gets the blame.

For more than a century now John Bull has been hiding his all-boneless, grab-sally, lopsided and dorkish.

But now—proudly gently by his tailor—he is beginning to get glamorous.

The Englishman is a staunch conservative. We have to speak up on him quietly and push a new fashion on him before he knows what's happening.

Chasing Brevity

At the moment, John Bull's sartorial daring stops at fancy and broadened vest and occasional plumed-crown dinner jacket.

It takes at least four years to get a new male fashion, according to Frederick Hinchey, chairman of the men's fashion council.

He said he hoped that any federal aid to universities would be used to improve the quality of the law school.

well more conservatively for a time."

The theory that Mrs. John Bull is the cause of her husband's sartorial conservatism, James Luger, curator of London's Victoria and Albert Museum, said he would only on hygiene factors.

"All clothes are decided by the unconscious desire of the opposite sex," he says.

Women Responsible

"In earlier days, women wanted their men to look like aristocrats. So men developed the complicated drape of the 17th and 18th centuries."

"Now women suddenly decided they wanted security instead of glamour. So they went over 100 years ago, men switched and began to look like bankers instead of aristocrats. Now women are starting to change back again, starting to change back again from security to glamour."

London's latest "Edwardian look" for men, with top-coats, high-collared jackets and high-collared jackets, is merely John Bull's last effort to dig in his conservative toes before his wife turns him into a butterfly. Luger says, then, adds, "but women will win in the end."

U.S. Regiment Adopts Canadian

By SAM GORDON

Bridge partners must work with each other or they are likely to get into a bad fix. This is the lesson that a pair of players learned in a recent deal.

NORTH
♠ 10 7
♥ 10 5 2
♦ 10 8 6 4
♣ 10 8 6 4

EAST
♠ K J 10 8
♥ A K 5 4 3
♦ A K 5 4 3
♣ A K 5 4 3

South opens with a heart. West declines to take it. This is a double that admits holding a hand as good as the one dealt. It orders partner to bid something if he has no difference. It makes no difference how weak partner may be. It makes not a bit of difference how boring partner may be about his own hand. It is in an interesting bid, partner, of doublets.

North lacks what it takes for a good bid. He has a 10-10 opening. Therefore north is in a bad fix. He has a 10-10 opening. This means that east must make a bid. He has a 10-10 opening. This means that east must make a bid. He has a 10-10 opening. This means that east must make a bid.

The temptation is to show the strong diamond suit first. But it would show a stubborn start in a bad fix. It would show a stubborn start in a bad fix. It would show a stubborn start in a bad fix.

At Camp Dragoon, N.Y., the 3rd U.S. Armored Cavalry Regiment has "adopted" a Canadian major for the duration of Exercise Salsburg, a joint army-air force winter manoeuvre. Major J. K. H. Munson, right, was presented with a set of regimental insignia bearing the motto, "Brave Riders". At left is Col. J. Curtis, - Central Press Canada.

Mrs. E. M. Vye, 45, of Calgary, has proved that a woman can handle what is usually considered a man's job - selling heavy farm machinery. She was hired by a Calgary firm 11 years ago to maintain contacts with customers while members of the regular sales crew were in the armed services. She proved capable and now has her own regular job of selling. She is shown at the head of one of the big machines she sells. She was married three years ago. - (CP Photo.)

Lone Male Vote Prevents Women From Voting

North Bay, Jan. 29 (CP) - A lone male vote at yesterday's Northern Ontario Outrigger Association convention prevented women from voting at future gatherings of the group. Nearly 200 men and women were present when President George Bishop of Oshawa proposed an amendment to the constitution which would allow women to vote. He felt that the women were responsible for 70 per cent or more of the work carried out in the fishing and hunting camps.

When a floor vote was called for, 100 masculine arms shot up. The call for "yes" was met by a resounding "no." It took about 745 "no" votes to carry the motion. A "unanimous" vote was called for, but the motion was defeated.

Congregational Meetings

Marmora—That the past year was a prosperous one for St. Andrew's United Church, Marmora, was indicated by the annual congregational meeting held in St. Andrew's hall on Thursday evening.

Upon motion of W. H. Babbe, pastor, member of session, the pastor, Rev. G. D. Young, R.D., was with Mrs. Young, last evening a vote of appreciation, with the secretaries that they remain another year.

Good Attendance
The attendance of church members was good. A polished supper served by the W.A. provided the occasion.

The Rev. G. D. Young presided, presiding the meeting with wife, reading and prayer. In the absence of the secretary, G. D. Jarvis was asked to assume such duties for the evening.

The pastor, having welcomed the audience, the minutes of last year's meeting were read and approved.

A. S. Satchman, called upon for his report as clerk of session, mentioned that that body consisted of 21 members. Four communion services were held in the past year.

The membership roll of 1931 showed an unusual change. Twenty-two members had moved away; there had been eight deaths and four new members added. The pastor had officiated at 14 baptisms, 11 weddings and 18 funerals. The relation of assistance with minister had been excellent and church attendance had been satisfactory.

In the minister's report, Rev. G. D. Young said there were no outstanding debts but interesting work offered and accomplished had been done, there being a varied life of activity. He had made 400 pastoral calls. He returned to the body work of the congregation, the Yvoo Group, which John Marshall had before his illness. Done was now in his period of recovery.

The pastor also referred to the summer vacation schools at St. Andrew's and Zion, the boys' and girls' camps, and the religious instruction which he was giving to the school of the church.

Communist Negotiators Agree To Allied Troop Rotation Of 25,000 Men Per Month

By ROBERT R. TUCKMAN

Moscow, Jan. 30 (AP)

Communist negotiators today agreed to the Allies rotating 25,000 troops a month, during an armistice and said Chinese would join in maintaining the demilitarized zone.

The Reds balked, however, at restricting on moving their troops secretly into threatening concentrations during an armistice.

Previously the communists had agreed to rotating only 5,000 United Nations troops. The Allies are asking for 15,000 a month.

Following the year indicated, the Chinese would take no part in civil administration of the southern half of a buffer zone during an armistice. Today they agreed to it.

All three sessions were taken by staff officers working their way slowly through an 18-page Allied draft of a plan for armistice negotiations.

The Reds objected to the armistice proposal.

1. That both sides refrain from concentrating troops and guns in a manner to threaten the other side.

2. Both sides to report weekly the exact location of all major ground, naval and air units.

Shows Critical Interest

In a negotiating text at Pusan, a U.N. spokesman said, a North Korean general showed a critical and amiable interest in the Allied plan for exchanging prisoners.

A U.N. committee comprising staff officers continued to make progress on these proposals.

The Reds were "reasonably objective," said Brig.-Gen. William P. Nichols. "But it would be incorrect to say a measurable progress was being made."

Her was any noteworthy progress reported immediately from a second session at staff officers working on details for exchanging a truce.

On the sub-committee session on prisoner exchange, North Korean Maj.-Gen. Lee Sang Chul analyzed the U.N. command proposal for exchange of prisoners in principle on a number of points but showed no change in attitude on key issues behind agreement.

Lee Critical

Lee accused the Allies of holding to an "unreasonable and optimistic attitude" on three crucial questions:

1. Voluntary repatriation. The Reds want all prisoners of war exchanged whether they like it or not.

2. The U.N. proposal that certain prisoners would be released on parole not to fight in the Korean war again. This would remove thousands of former South Korean soldiers from the North Korean army.

3. The Allied step-by-step exchange plan. Lee refers to it as a "one-for-one" plan. Allies hold 10 times as many prisoners as the Reds. The communists want an all-for-all exchange.

Lee again argued in principle to the Allied proposal that prisoners should be given to exchanging sick and wounded prisoners.

He also approved the U.N. proposal for exchange of prisoners buried in POW camps.

Both sides groups met at 11 a.m. Thursday.

The United States is producing steel at the rate of about 106,000,000 net tons a year.

What one day's production of this means in terms of products, was graphically illustrated in an address last night by George S. Row, secretary of the American Iron and Steel Institute.

One day's production (about 288,000 tons) would, he said, provide steel for all of the following:

One aircraft carrier, two heavy cruisers, two cargo ships, two tankers, 500 airplanes, 2,000 aerial bombs, 1,000 anti-aircraft guns, 1,000 howitzers, 500 tanks, 500,000 three inch shells, 1,000 freight cars, 2,000 buses, 2,000 trucks, 12,000 automobiles, 20,000 household refrigerators, 20,000 gas ranges, with 25,000 tons left over.

Increase Planned

The U.S. expects to be producing 120,000,000 tons a year by 1954, while Canada, now producing 4,000,000 tons, is heading for the 5,000,000 mark.

Mr. Row, who addressed the Canadian Hardware Association at the St. Lawrence Club, Que., had some other graphic comments. Speaking of the last part of 20th Century history, he said:

"Those at the turn of the century have seen, on one short, little island, all of the Turkish, Spanish, Italian, Hungarian, German, Russian and Japanese Empires. We have seen the tragic weakening of Britain and France."

"In the resulting vacuum of power that has ensued, a great new empire in the east is rising with extraordinary speed; it has declared itself our enemy; and it is unexpectedly showing that it is a power for organization of men and resources which is one of the fundamental requirements for power."

Millions Organized

"In China alone, for instance, are told that the communists have organized 5,000,000 workers on one single project, the construction of the waters of the Whang River."

Speaking of Canada's international contributions, Mr. Row commented:

"You have advanced almost $7,000,000,000 to other nations, in aid and loans, between 1939 and 1951. You have not lost the

British Papers Predict Another Dose of Austerity

London, Jan. 30 (Reuters)—The two babies of the royal family—Prince Charles and Princess Anne—today spent the last half day with their parents for the first time since their birth.

Tomorrow at noon Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh will leave by air on a royal tour to the north of Scotland.

Most predicted gloomily that Butler will probably give Britain another big dose of austerity in his budget in March.

The Times said economic Butler announced were in themselves not a sufficient remedy to get the financially-sailing country back on her feet.

"This is an unfinished story. It completely leaves vital work for the budget to do."

The Liberal Manchester Guardian said "if disaster is to be averted, the budget will be our last chance."

The Daily Herald, organ of the Labor opposition, said "in employing extensive controls, he (Butler) follows not merely Labor policy, but its methods."

"But the government must be strongly challenged on its new health service changes."

Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express urged Butler not to rest on his laurels, "because he has 'stayed of bankruptcy by policies of repression.'"

"We should restore freedom as well as measure—'including the freedom of pound sterling.'"

"But it is quite as much, in proportion to your gross national product, as the enormous foreign aid that has been extended by the United States. It amounts to about one-third of your gross national product of $100,000,000,000."

"The United States has advanced something over $100,000,000,000 in freedom aid during about the same period. This, similarly, totals about one-third of our gross annual product of $300,000,000,000."

The Princess and Duke find their constantly increasing popularity drives them away from their children more than they like. It is barely two months since they returned from a strenuous tour of Canada.

On the coming visit to Australia and New Zealand they will deposit for the King, who is unable to go because of ill health.

Today the young couple gave all their spare time to playing and talking with the children.

After a week's vacation in Kenya they board the 18,000-ton liner Galleon at Mombasa for Cape Town, Australia and New Zealand.

White they are away the security of the telephone will be kept at a minimum by the Princess and Duke. The Princess has had a special radio-telephone fitted in her cabin so that she can phone the children when they are away.

It is 24 years since Australia last had a formal royal visit. The King and Queen made the trip in 1928 when they were Duke and Duchess of York.

The bidding has gone this far:

South	West	North	East
3 H	2 D	Pass	1 S

South made a promise of five tricks when he opened the bidding. His hand contains six tricks. And his heart suit is respectable. This entitles him to a bid of two hearts on the second round.

West now bids two spades. This means two purposes. It tells East that the spade suit is a suit, that West has no trick more than promised by the double.

How West bid out if East has nothing or something? When a player is assumed to have two tricks. He may raise one or two trick in excess of this base two.

Therefore, East has enough for two raises. He shows it by a bid of four spades after West bids two spades. Ignore an opponent's bid. This entitles him to a bid of two hearts on the second round. He is admitting a suit.

The double asked east has at least four spades of any kind, and to jump if he had, and to jump if he had.

Economic Review Less Bright Than in 1950

Toronto, Jan. 30 (CP)—The 1951 Economic Review released yesterday by the Ontario Bureau of Statistics and Research was considerably less bright than in 1950.

It showed a higher rate of unemployment, a sharp reduction in housing construction and lower retail sales.

The report stated that the number of persons unemployed at the beginning of 1951 was 44,000, an increase of 20,000 over December and 30,000 over the same period of 1951. The largest increases were in the Kitchener, Toronto, London and St. Catharines.

In the week ended Jan. 13, 1952, retail sales were reported down 28 per cent from the previous year in December, sales were two per cent lower in the last week of 1951.

Payroll in trading industries remained about 20 per cent higher in 1951 than in 1950, the report said. Average weekly earnings declined from $47.34 in January to $45.00 in November.

Home building in the first 11 months of 1951 was 8 per cent higher than in the year before, but with larger down payments required because of credit controls, construction was started at 31 per cent fewer homes by August. By October the start had declined by 53 per cent.

Some more tricks. The east bid one spade, that promised less than five tricks.

How West bid out if East has nothing or something? When a player is assumed to have two tricks. He may raise one or two trick in excess of this base two.

Therefore, East has enough for two raises. He shows it by a bid of four spades after West bids two spades. Ignore an opponent's bid. This entitles him to a bid of two hearts on the second round. He is admitting a suit.

Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Jan. 30 (AP)—Dick Stabile, beaten, bruised and abused by Martin and Lewis for three years, has signed on for another seven years of punishment.

Stabile is a rugged 200-pounder who looks as though he could take care of himself in any situation.

"You take a beating all right," sighed the musician. "One of my favorite tricks is to get on the opposite side of the stage, run and jump on me and try to hold me."

Stabile discovered another favorite. Martin and Lewis took a New York night club. He was doing a number in the spotlight when the two comics assaulted him.

They poured water over his head, whacked him in the back, slugged him in the chest and he suffered many other indignities. The boys said his script didn't have a lot of laughs.

They tear up the orchestra's sheet music. "Fortunately, I made the arrangements, so I have them memorized," said Stabile.

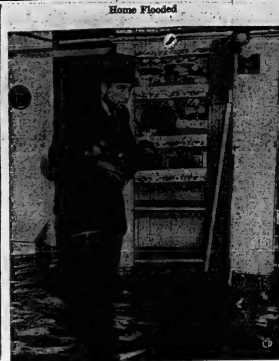

The bandman doesn't seem any worse for the abuse he takes. "In fact, when they stop kidding around, I get worried," he said. "I figure then they're mad at me."

Besides his musical abilities, Stabile also functions as what he calls a "professional laughter."

"Maybe that's the reason the boys hired me," he said. "I thought they were funny and I laughed. I have made a study of comic psychology and I've found that if people see somebody laughing, they'll laugh too, even if they don't get the joke."

NEW OFFICIAL MASCOT

Toronto, Jan. 30 (CP)—A duck's short-sightedness earned him a coy name for the winter season and leader on his head. He was picked up and adopted by Bill Laurie, cook on the harbor dredge Howard K and now is official mascot of the boat.

Defective Revolver Saves Man's Life

Toronto, Jan. 31 — (CP) Once, twice . . . four times, the gunman pulled the trigger of his revolver. Each time, it failed to fire.

George Petkus, 30 - year - old night cleaner in a downtown restaurant, told Wednesday how the gun discharged the fifth time but the bullet missed him as he crouched in on a man he had encountered in a basement dressing room.

The gunman then hit Petkus twice over the head with the butt of the revolver and fled, empty-handed.

REMANDED TO FEBRUARY 22
Windsor, Jan. 31 — (CP)—Six Ford of Canada employees yesterday elected trial by higher court on three of four categories of charges laid in connection with an incident in last month's 12-day Ford strike.
They were remanded to Feb. 22 for preliminary hearing.

On a fourth type of charge, that of assaulting a Ford plant protection officer, Anthony Drouillard pleaded not guilty. Magistrate J. Hanrahan set the same day for trial.

A Lesson in Faith
That Cannot be Bought

Faith that a believer in faith finds hard to comprehend. The University attended a worldwide church conference in 1984 in several European cities, including Barcelona, Rome, Zurich and Berlin. While her impressions of the city of Rome, the capital of Italy and the scenic grandeur of Switzerland are vivid, what dwells in her mind now are the impressions of Berlin, the city and people of Berlin, in both East and West sectors. And what dwells in her mind now are the impressions of a conversation with her in the story of one East Berlin mother—

This mother of two daughters, in describing her experiences with the Russian troops, said: "We all knew the children should be kept out of the streets, and we were very anxious to get them out of the rubble of a bombed building. But they cannot be watched every second. One day they were playing in the street as usual for our ration of bread, the children came out to look for me. They didn't find me, and I found them." She was able to find them.

Her two nine and six-year-old daughters were five months previous to this her husband had been condemned by Soviet officials. She had been in the United States for more than 10 years in all those occupation years. Yet in those conference meetings Mr. Bates says her husband was never mentioned by name and she is one of the most indefatigable of church workers.

AT HOME in ski terrain for both sports and after-ski wear are sweaters with colorful touches. A cardinal red sweater with a white collar and cuffs is the main color theme of a horizontally machine-knit wool sweater. White cross-stitch embroidery covers the shoulders and the knit neckband and sleeve detail are also of the white embroidery.

for a hostess under these circumstances? And what is expected of a guest? For one thing she might realize that, with company in the house, there is always more work to be done in the culinary department. She can offer to shell the peas or shell the shrimp, do such tasks as require no meddling with the actual cook-

She should make her bed, keep her room tidy, hang up the towels and wash her face and hair after the bath carefully. And if she sits playing with the kids when mama is busy, she will get a high rating and more invitations.

Probably the most important thing is to take along every tell-tale sign of a woman. No woman wants to lend her rouge compact, and certainly not her lipstick, though bareheaded house-guests have been known to borrow even that.

She must have respect for her hostess's possessions. Never set a moist palm on polished wood to

Rev. J. W. Bateman gave an interesting synopsis of the chapters in the larger edition of the Study Book. Members for 1933 were paid. Mr. Richardson was appointed as the Auxiliary representative on the Missionary and Finance Committee of the conference.

The social and entertainment party was planned. The members decided to place a quilt on the altar to bring a pattern next year.

The members voted that the sick be sent fruit or flowers.

At the close of the service, the hymn "The Church of the Living God" was sung.

Dr. Logan's Wife

By Diana Gaines

"It's not all," the superintendent said. He handed one the log sheet of a uniform clad of paper placed on his desk. "The lady each day in not quite closed her mind this one."

"You flatter through the sheet," he said. "I'm bringing the sheet hurriedly. Its contents were faithful to him. All the doctors and nurses and employees of the hospital had signed similar sheets and turned them in almost two weeks ago. You, as a member of the Medical Executive Committee, had voted in favor of the case. True, it was against the democratic principle to force a majority to vote on a case, but, and, worse, to hang his job on the threat of such a statement, but Gus stood with those who claimed that communists had been the cause of the case. It was now a movement which would, to overthrow the government by violent means. It had been called to order several times evenings to the loyalty-oath controversy. He had thought the matter settled. A dead issue. Now here it was again, when what he wanted most was to pick up his wife and get home in time for a leisurely dinner before the meeting tonight. His wife slipped to the bottom of the page. "Peter Surfer" in black thick strokes of a stub pen in lower margin of the printed form was a handwritten postscript: "Mr. Surfer is a member of the Ku Klux Klan." Gus suppressed a sigh and a slight twinge of the knee at the audaciousness of the notation.

He dropped the paper onto the desk and looked up, white as paper, prepared for the extremity of anger, which charged Maxwell Cola's face and body. Cola stood crouched over the desk like a sockey over a horse. Nature had unmercifully crowded the small features, and the olive skin, now sunken, was deeply convulsed so that the effect was of a mangled cabbage in which the
